Charge Bliss in Venice spraying

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Concerns about a possible "secret" dumping site in Venice for suspected hazardous materials, plus repeated spraying of railroad property by a firm presently under investigation by the Environmental Protection Agency, were voiced at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

After receiving pertinent information at the meeting from First Ward Alderman Philip Daniels, Mayor Tyrone Echols said that an immediate attempt will be made to get clarification from the Illinois attorney general concerning charges brought by that office, alleging dumping of chemically contaminated oil at the Illinois Central Gulf switching yards.

The location believed referred to in the dumping charges is located in ICG's piggyback area near the south end of Main Street in Venice.

Don Ramsell, a spokesman for Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan, was contacted Wednesday by the Press-Record and said the charges were filed Feb. 1 with the Illinois Pollution Control Board against Jerry-Russell Bliss Inc., the firm's owner, Russell Bliss; company employee Jay Covert, and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

The main legal points contend Bliss Inc. is not licensed to do business in Illinois and Illinois Central does not have a valid permit to operate a refuse disposal operation in the Venice yards.

Four counts contained in the action are based on the fact — "It is alleged that they (the defendants) improperly disposed of hazardous waste by virtue of spraying of trichloroethylene and heavy metals considered to be toxic," Ramsell said.

There is no time limitation for action or recommendation, but will be done "according to their (pollution control board) dockets," the spokesman advised.

A former Bliss employee made reference to a "secret" dumping site — as opposed to the spraying operation — during a published interview. The employee discussed various dumping places in the Metro-East area and contended that much of the material was dumped in a secret place in Venice. He contended the worst materials, including paint solvents and many other things, were "disposed of" in Venice.

The spraying of oil was done for dust control, but since the oil was waste oil and contaminated with trichloroethylene and heavy metals, the attorney general's office charges that this is the dumping of waste materials, it was learned.

The action states a Bliss Inc. employee brought a tanker-truck loaded with the waste oil to the Venice rail yard on April 14, 1982, and began spraying the oil onto the ground.

The spraying allegedly was witnessed by a representative of the state EPA and employees of Illinois Central, who halted the action, the charge states.

Army of God loses its war

The self-styled "Army of God" is gone from its chosen field of battle — war against children that offer abortions.

Matthew M. "Butch" Moore, 20, New Caney, Texas, pleaded guilty Monday before U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty of Granite City.

Beatty will sentence him Feb. 18 on two Hobbs Act counts, attempting and conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce by threats or violence.

The charges relate to the Aug. 12, 1982, abduction of Dr. and Mrs. Hector Zevallos, former Granite Cityans. To gain their freedom, the surgeon said he would close his Hope Clinic for Women in Granite City but has not done so.

Moore's brother, Wayne A. Moore, also of New Caney, pleaded guilty Jan. 21 to the same charges and will be sentenced the same day as Matthew Moore.

Don Benny Anderson, 42, Pearland, Texas, was convicted of identical charges Jan. 27 by a federal jury after a trial in Alton and is to be sentenced to 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

J. William Lucio, Matthew Moore's prosecutor, agreed to recommend concurrent sentences but are free to seek the maximum of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for one count.

Judge Beatty warned the defendant during his appearance Monday to expect a 20-year sentence.

Federal kidnapping charges could not be filed because the Zevallos were not taken across a state line.

Abducted from their home in the Country Club Estates residential area near Sunset Hill, they were kept in an abandoned ammunition bunker east of Springfield. They were threatened repeatedly with death before being released near the Edwardsville Holiday Inn.

Madison County authorities have not decided whether to file state kidnapping charges. The decision will depend to some extent on the severity of the federal sentences.

Lucio said he has been talking with Florida and Virginia officials who have been investigating attacks on three clinics in those states in May and June of 1982.

The plea-bargaining agreement under which Matthew Moore pleaded guilty calls for him to cooperate with those states' investigators. In return, any state sentences there would run concurrently with the federal term.

No charges have been filed in either Florida or Virginia, nor has anyone been linked to the Virginia case.

A spokesman for the Florida state fire marshal said Matthew Moore and Anderson admit setting fires at two clinics in the Tampa area — Clearwater and St. Petersburg — on May 26. Both men were questioned by Florida agents last week at the St. Clair County Jail in Belleville.

U.S. Attorney Frederick J. Hess of the Southern District of Illinois said results of an investigation by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms have been referred to the Pinellas County, Fla., prosecutor.

Trim GC school staff to 640

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

An already streamlined Granite City school staff has been cut to 640 for 1983-84 and further trimming is planned this month and in March.

Totalling 1,121 a decade ago, the number of school employees currently is 943. Of these, 293 jobs were eliminated by the Board of Education on Feb. 1, effective in June. The board reduced yearly costs by about $4 million.

A breakdown of the 640 lists 436 teachers, 59 custodians, 46 cafeteria employees and 39 secretaries. Also in the total are 26 administrators, 18 maintenance trades employees, nine teaching assistants and monitors, and seven non-certificated administrative, supervisory and programming employees.

Dan Todoroff ending an exciting career

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Robert Dan Todoroff, whose contribution to music education in the Granite City School District spans 30 years, has quite a combination of talents.

He can develop the natural ability of a musically-inclined student and produce a polished performance from a group of young people, who have matured under his supervision.

The educator has served as an invited, unofficial "goodwill ambassador" to a foreign country and was offered a consultant's post by that nation to revamp musical instruction in its schools.

At the same time, the woodwind clinician and lecturer is a qualified driver of an over-the-road 18-wheeler, a mountain climber and a veteran of service in the U. S. Navy.

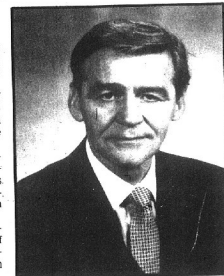

The first and only band director at Granite City High School North since the school opened in 1974, Todoroff will retire from the local school system at the end of the 1982-83 school year.

He decided to retire last June and his retirement was reluctantly accepted at the start of the 1982-83 school year by the Granite City Board of Education.

Subsequently, the board honored his request to allow the school year to proceed without public knowledge of his plans to leave, thereby avoiding dampening the morale of his students during his final year, Todoroff explained.

Determined to keep the last year experiences intact for his youthful musicians, plus his natural inclination for perfection, the director spent more than 300 hours composing band shows for the 1982-83 season while vacationing last July in Boca Raton, Fla.

Preparing for North High School Band's coming season is a task he has undertaken, each summer for many years and last year was no different, he said.

ROBERT DAN TODOROFF

His plans to leave the local school system were finalized prior to more recent deliberations about the district's financial woes, which have culminated in the decision to close Granite City High School North, the band director emphasized.

Underscoring his expressed wish to keep everything as usual, in the early summer of 1982 Todoroff went to band training sessions at Middle State University of Tennessee at Murfreesboro, a practice he has followed each summer at his own expense to keep abreast of the latest instruction, not only in band, but pom-pom, flag and rifle squad techniques.

Todoroff started teaching at Coolidge Junior High School in 1952, after spending one year in the Bourbon (Mo.) School District.

He earned his bachelor's degree at Mount Union College in Ohio and received his master's degree from and non-certified supervisors from four to seven. The latter category increased by one position and two persons already employed were redesignated.

Although the board does not desire to fill particular buildings beyond about 90 percent of their capacity, space in the dozen schools to be used in 1983-84 totals 11,558 based on State Facilities Inventory Report standards.

The current SFIR capacity figure is 16,253 and the six schools being closed in June can accommodate 4,695.

Biggest grade schools remaining open will be Prather (currently a junior high school) with room for 915 pupils, Wilson 800, Mitchell 790, Maryville and Frohhardt 610 each and Parkview, 600.

Also to be operated in 1983-84 are three other elementary schools, Niedringhaus 440, Webster 480 and Marshall, 430.

Utility tax rejection sends city attorneys to law books

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

An Illinois Supreme Court decision Tuesday which struck down some cities' utility taxes sent attorneys for Quad City area governments scurrying to their lawbooks to decide whether the decision affects local utility taxes.

"We will have to review the (high court's) opinion and see if the ordinance (struck down) is like ours and advise the council," said Granite City Assistant City Attorney Irvin C. Slate Jr.

Illinois Power Co. officials say the initial reaction of their legal department is that the court decision nullifies the utility tax in East St. Louis and National City, but probably not in Granite City, Madison, Venice or Pontoon Beach.

In finding a three percent utility tax in Waukegan in violation of part of the 1970 Illinois Constitution, the state Supreme Court indicated that money collected under the "illegal" tax will have to be refunded to the customers, either in direct refunds or in credits against future utility bills.

The high court sent the Waukegan and Cook County cases back to the local courts to supervise the refunds and take care of other legal matters involved.

If the decision is applied to the Quad City area, it could have profound effects in all local municipal governments.

Pontoon Beach has been supported primarily by five percent taxes on all utilities for more than a decade, preferring the utility tax to any form of property taxation to support village services. Refunding of all the money collected over the years could seriously affect the village's finances.

Madison has had a five percent tax on all utility bills, gas, electricity and telephone, for more than a year. Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk was on vacation and other city officials said they do not know how much money has been collected through the tax or what the effect of an order to refund the money would do to the city treasury.

If the ruling is found to apply to Madison, "It is, no doubt, going to put us in a bind," said Thomas Gordon, chairman of the Madison City Council's finance committee.

"We implemented that tax because we needed the tax to support city services. It was tied to a reduction in property tax. This could have a big impact on the decisions we make during the year," Gordon concluded.

He said he was relieved when Illinois Power's preliminary opinion indicated Madison would not be affected.

Venice residents have paid a three percent tax on all utility bills for some time. Mayor Tyrone Echols was unavailable yesterday to comment on the possible effects on the city, should it subsequently be discovered that the Supreme Court's ruling applies to the Venice taxes.

Higher taxes likely—Thompson

In the wake of taxation requests voiced in Tuesday night's "state of the state" address, it is being widely predicted that Illinois income tax rates will be increased effective July 1.

With Chicago Democrats dominating both houses of the legislature, tradeoffs are being forecast, persuading the Republican governor to increase the flow of state funds to Illinois' biggest city.

Gov. James R. Thompson proposed: 1. A 60 percent hike in personal state income taxes from 2 1/2 to 4 percent.

2. A 40 percent boost in corporate income taxes, from 4 to 5.5 percent. (Firms also pay another 2.5 percent income tax surcharge to replace the former corporate personal property tax.)

3. A two-thirds increase in state liquor taxes.

4. An increase in automobile license fees of up to 2.23 times the present levels, with all car licenses to cost $48. (Truck fees also would be increased as the weight limit rises to 80,000 pounds.)

5. A 46 percent rise in the tax on gasoline, from the present 7 1/2 cents to 11 cents a gallon.

Annual revenue that would be generated was estimated, in that order, as $1.45 billion, $170 million, $60 million, $170 million and $168 million.

The $2 billion proposal would cost an average family an additional $250 to $350 a year, projections indicated.

Several business groups said the tax plan, if enacted, would adversely affect existing firms and dim the state's attractiveness for new industries.

Individuals also are concerned, noting that the state income tax would be increasing at the same time that the next federal income tax cut takes effect, on July 1, 1983.

But some employee groups are receptive to the proposal and assert that the current state budget includes a $600 million imbalance that must be resolved.

Thompson cautioned that, without an injection of new funds, a continued recession could cause school aid to be cut by ten percent next year, some mental hospitals to close, and the caliber of various state services to fall below a "standard of decency."

BEER FOUND IN CAR AT LOW-WATER DAM

Lisa A. Winchester, 16, of 2224 Woodawn Ave., was charged with unlawful possession of alcohol by Madison County Sheriff's deputies during the weekend.

Deputies said they found 15 unopened bottles of beer in the backseat of an automobile she was driving at Low Water Dam. She allegedly told authorities she knew about the alcohol, but claimed she did not drink any of it.

Occupants in the vehicle all were under age, deputies said. She posted her driver's license as bond and was released from the Madison County Jail.

Sheriff concerned over lack of money to pick up prisoners

By JIM SCHLUETER
Madison County could be facing another unexpected expense if the sheriff's department is no longer reimbursed for transporting prisoners back to the county.

In a letter to the county's finance committee, Sheriff Emil Toffant said the state for the first time refused to reimburse his department for a trip made to return a man wanted for a state felony charge in the county.

"On this last one, the state sent us a letter which said at the present time they have no money to reimburse us with," Toffant said. "The state's attorney will check it out for us, and (State's Attorney Don) Weber thinks state law says they have to reimburse us."

Toffant said the trip not paid for by the state was to Colorado and cost $648.33. He also said trips to Mississippi, Louisiana and New York could be coming up soon.

"We average about two or three trips a week," Toffant said. "If somebody is wanted by our county for a felony, we have to get him." According to the sheriff, state law says his department must return people wanted by municipal police forces as well as people wanted by the county.

"We collected from the state because it is all under state warrants," Toffant said. "And we only bring back felons, not misdemeanors."

Toffant said his men pickup parole violators and felony suspects as well as convicted felons who are also wanted in the county.

They are picked up at out-of-state county jails or state penitentiaries.

This problem comes at a time when the sheriff has taken drastic steps to live within a tight 1983 budget. The sheriff was forced to lay off 17 employees in fiscal year 1983 because of budget restrictions, and he said his department cannot afford to pay the travel expenses.

"I'm going to have to get some money from either the state or go to the finance committee for an appropriation," Toffant said. "We have to bring those people back. It's mandatory." The finance committee did not act on Toffant's letter at its meeting last week.

IRS OFFERS TIPS FOR TAXPAYER

Taxpayers should be as careful in selecting a tax preparer as they are in choosing a doctor or lawyer, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

While most preparers are honest, a few abuse the responsibility they have. Avoid preparers who talk of "beating" the system, promise a refund or claim to have special contacts with the IRS, or IRS spokesman warned.

Taxpayers are advised not to sign a blank return, a partially completed return or a penciled-in return.

In addition, taxpayers should have the preparer sign and date returns as well as fill in his or her identification number. A copy of the completed return must be furnished to the taxpayer. Taxpayers are advised to remember that they are responsible for an accurate, complete return, no matter who actually fills in the form.

WOMAN STRANDED SAYS MAN RAPED HER

A 20-year-old East Alton woman told Madison County authorities that she was raped after her car ran out of gas along Illinois Route 3 at North Street last week.

According to sheriff's reports, the woman refused a medical examination and could not provide much information about the alleged rapist.

Two men stopped to offer assistance and the woman alleges that she blacked out, but remembered being raped by one of the men. An acquaintance later stopped her recognizing her car and found her alone and upset, authorities said. She was taken to the Barbel Restaurant, 1220 Nineteenth St., and deputies were summoned.

Kirk Gardner is named to Venice School Board

By PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

After approximately one and one-half hours of interviews and discussions on Monday, Venice School Board members approved Kirk Gardner of 210A Harrison St., Eagle Park Acres, as the new board member to replace Raymond "Chuck" Mosby. Mosby's resignation, presented during the regular board meeting on Jan. 17, was effective Jan. 5.

Gardner was one of five candidates competing for the position, and will officially take his seat at the next regular meeting of the board.

Board President Jack Tolliver presented Mosby with a plaque in appreciation for his services during his 4-year term. Mosby accepted the plaque with a smile.

"I've learned so much that I think I have an edge on other people my age," Mosby said. "I have had some battles and I learned a lot about defeat. You lose one war, you win the next," he said.

After Mosby's comments, Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers lightly assured potential board members, "Chuck talked about these battles, but it's not really that bad."

In other actions, Vickers reported that four samples from the ceiling of the 1954 addition of the high school

After a Schneck's Market security guard alleged seeing a woman take a package of vitamins from a shelf, open the container and hand the contents to a man who put them in his coat pocket.

At that point, the man, later identified as Larry C. White, 39, of 1024a Rodgers St., fled across the parking lot, chased by an employee, and was caught in a field on Manley Avenue and returned to the store. The woman, meanwhile, ran to a maroon-colored Corvette, and left the lot, reports said.

It was alleged that White had two candles, valued at $1.75, in a pocket. The vitamins, worth $9.27, and a second packet of seafood sticks were recovered from the field where the man was captured. Both packets of seafood were valued at $5.38.

White was charged with retail theft and was released on payment of a $102 cash bond.

A check on the car's license plate was made and White identified the woman driver as a relative, reports said.

Kimla Muckensturm, 23, of 2827 Marshall Ave., later called police headquarters and was advised to come in.

She was interviewed, charged with theft and released on payment of a $52 cash bond.

will be sent to McCrone Associates in Chicago for asbestos testing. The company, which is approved by the Environmental Protection Agency, will conduct tests to determine the asbestos fiber content of the sprayed-on ceiling and results should return in 10 to 15 days. The testing will cost a minimum of $100.

If the tests show a high content of asbestos fibers, Vickers indicated, the public will be notified and the area sealed off by May 27. "By law, we are permitted to take bonds to take care of the situation," Vickers stated. "I understand that it's very expensive, so we'll have to get the funds from another source (other than the present budget)," he added.

In financial decisions, board members approved the repayment of $8,500 from the education fund and of $14,000 from the education

The new class and the next ongoing class (which begins on Feb. 26) will be combined for the graduation ceremonies.

Ponce also informed board members that Selena Nave, a student at the center, may be one of the subjects of a Channel 5 series on the disadvantages of poor people. According to Ponce, Phyllis Armstrong of Channel 5 may interview Miss Nave at the technical center, possibly to discuss the problems she has in attending school under extreme financial circumstances.

POSTAL EMPLOYEE RETIRES. Birkie Hillis Jr., left, is presented a service award by Granite City Postmaster Jack Wilkins on his retirement from the U.S. Postal Service. Hillis, assigned to the Mitchell Branch office for the past four years, has accumulated more than 30 years of government service, including postal and military time. This photo was taken in front of the Land of Lincoln Philatelic Center at the main post office. Hillis, an avid stamp collector, was instrumental in establishment of the stamp collecting center in Granite City.

Army assigns new recruiters

Two new recruiters have been assigned to the Army Recruiting Station at 3675 Nameoki Road. They are Staff Sergeant John Robbins and Sergeant Barbara Legrand.

SSG Robbins will work in particular with the young people of the Granite City High School South. He has served in Kansas, Germany and Missouri prior to his assignment as an Army recruiter in Granite City.

Currently a coach for the division-winning Atlanta Braves, Maxvill recalled how two winning streaks offset a long losing streak for that team. He said Braves' owner Ted Turner has highly effective business management procedures. Maxvill was introduced by Richard Sues.

Walgreens observes health month

During February, Walgreen drug stores around the country will observe National Children's Dental Health Month as part of the company's ongoing effort to help inform the public about health-related matters.

Walgreens, along with Beecham Products, makers of Aqua-fresh toothpaste, are making available free of charge the American Dental Association booklet, "Cleaning Your Teeth and Gums." Primarily for children, the booklet reinforces the need to remove bacterial plaque from teeth through proper brushing, flossing and rinsing techniques.

Participation in National Dental Health Month is just one part of the company's ongoing health promotion program. Begun nationwide about a year ago, this program has already focused on health concerns such as diabetes, high blood pressure and cancer control. Walgreens has plans to share information with consumers on poison prevention, eye care, first-aid and sports injuries.

Walgreens, one of the largest drug chains in the country, has more than 900 stores located in 30 states and Puerto Rico.

A public relations overkill?

Under the category of "Free advice is worth just what you pay for it," we offer a suggestion to the Bell Telephone network — quit spending so much money on public relations. It's costing you friends.

The Bell commercials during the Superbowl game kind of bugged us when we discovered that commercial time during the game was sold for $400,000 a minute. That was still stuck in our craw when we received a beautiful, full-color, 32-page Bell Telephone Magazine in the mail, the fifth and last one of 1982.

All but 11 of the pages had at least one color and many of them were in full color. A dozen original art pieces graced the booklet, undoubtedly drawn by full-time Bell artists.

Inside, amongst stories about the Bell system are such fascinating pieces as "A Matter of Money, More or Less — Bell System employees are among the best paid in the country, but that may be small comfort as inflation erodes their buying power." Perhaps if they took some of the money spent on Superbowl advertise-ing and distributed it to the employees, it would make the employees more comfortable.

Another piece in the book is entitled, "O. Harmony! O. Advocacy — a conductor of music and a Bell System lawyer seek and find their own 'unique ways to interpret an established score'."

Of course, much of the booklet deals with the divestiture of AT&T and the plan of reorganization. That is why we comment at this time.

Some advertising by Bell obviously saves or generates revenue. The newspaper ads to call Bell before digging near a buried cable may have saved thousands of dollars in cable repairs. We are told that the long distance telephone advertisements generate enough additional calls to more than pay for themselves.

Other than that, it is a bad time for telephone customers to have to bear the extra expense of Bell's public relations campaign. It is a good time for Bell to re-evaluate how it spends its money, since it already is in the process of restructuring the entire Bell System.

Oops, wrong National Steel Corp.

We felt kind of like the zany Gelda Radner in her famous, "Never Mind," editorial responses on Saturday Night Live when we called Granite City Steel Monday to inquire about a new integrated steel plant National Steel Corp. plans to build in the Philippines.

Our information was totally accurate, but totally wrong. "That's the Philippines' own National Steel firm, not our National Steel Corp.," was the answer.

A Granite City Steel employee brought us a clipping from the Philippines Daily Express that starts, "The Board of Investments (BOI) has granted incentives to the P8-billion integrated steel project of the National Steel Corp. in Iligan City. The project, given a pioneer status by the BOI, will enjoy incentives such as duty free importation of machinery and equipment."

The implication was obvious. "Is National Steel abandoning its U.S. plants and building in other countries where labor is cheaper and the government grants incentives?" We recently reported on a tinof rolling mill our National Steel is building in Luxembourg.

There, National Steel officials say, the mill had to be located close to its customers because of the specialized nature of the product, low inventories kept by the customers and the need to supply many customers quickly.

Well, Granite City Steel workers can breathe a sigh of relief on the Philippines project, but then get ready to compete. The plant will produce 1.5 million tons of crude steel, 1.2 million tons of steel slabs, 200,000 tons of billets, 100,000 tons of medium and heavy plates, one million tons of hot-rolled coils or sheets, 700,000 tons of cooled coils or sheets, 250,000 tons of tin plates and one million tons of iron ore concentrates, according to the news release.

A lot of that steel is likely to appear in the U.S. in the form of a Datsun or Toyota.

Just how much is $848 billion?

U.S. News & World Report this week came up with some very interesting comparisons to try to put the size of President Ronald Reagan's proposed $848 billion budget into some perspective.

Reagan is proposing that the government expend $848 billion in the 12 months starting Oct. 1, 1983. Here's how much that is:

—If one million dollars had been spent each day since the birth of Christ, about $127 billion would still remain.

—A highway 1.14 miles wide could be paved with dollar bills all the way from New York City to San Francisco.

—At current spot-market prices, the budget would pay for almost 20 years of America's oil imports.

—You could drop a $1 bill on each square foot of Los Angeles every 10 seconds and make that money storm last 11 minutes before spending the budget.

—At today's median price for an existing house, you could buy one seventh of America's housing units with the federal budget.

—Laid end to end, $48 billion $1 bills would soar 82 million miles into the sky, almost to the sun.

Copley News Service added a few more comparisons we thought might be of interest.

—The number of unemployed Americans is equivalent to laying off the entire populations of Alaska, Arizona, Delaware, Hawaii, Idaho, Maine, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming.

—If you were to take the defense budget for the next five years in $1 mills and lay them end to end, they could stretch from Earth to the sun and back.

Now that we fully understand all these interesting items, we can get back to more important things, like trying to comprehend how BIG the national debt of $1 trillion really is.

The Press-Record did not inspire the bill. The matter is mentioned here for the benefit of any person who honestly thinks the Press-Record is persecuting Quincy and Harry. The Press-Record is more interested in the thousands of local people who are being kept from starvation by state funds that it is in the dictation of any politician or all the politicians in the city, county, state, nation or the world.

A member of the Press-Record editorial staff asked persons shopping at Crossroads Plaza about the effectiveness of the 11-day old independent truckers' strike. Their reactions follow:

John Walls, Granite City
"No, I don't think the truckers' strike was effective. I do think they had a legitimate argument, though. The end result? No, I'm afraid road and fuel taxes won't be lowered as a result of the strike."

Nancy Cuvur, Granite City
"I don't think the strike was that effective. Everyone else will have to pay the fuel taxes, so I think they should as well. No, I doubt the tax will be lifted as a result of the strike."

Kip Helvie, Edwardsville
"No, it wasn't effective, and I'll tell you why. There weren't enough truckers out on strike and those who did honor the strike weren't out long enough. If the Teamsters as well as the independents went out, the strike would have been a huge success."

Edward Hogan, Venice
"Yes, I think it was effective. I've got a buddy who's a trucker. We're being taxed to death. I don't believe they'll be able to make it anymore with the increased taxes. I'll tell you something else, I don't think it's all these truckers who are doing all the shouting either. I think it's people who would like to blame it on the truckers."

Parents can help combined school sued

To the Editor:
In the 1950-51 school year, I was one of 42 students in the sixth grade class of Mrs. Pauleta Mueller at Nameoki School.

In the 1952-53 school year, I was one of the many eighth grade students from Nameoki and Mitchell Schools who were sent to the high school for that school year because of overcrowding in our grade schools.

Believe me, that was not easy on us — but truly, I can't remember any public outcry over the situation. And we survived, no worse for wear.

7 fatalities in this district in January

Statistics indicate that more than 55 percent of all traffic fatalities involve the drinking driver. Very often one drink for the road will lead to two drinks, and two drinks will lead to one drink too many, says the Illinois State Police Division of Law Enforcement.

In single-vehicle crashes during 1982, between 65 and 75 percent of drivers killed were "under the influence." Speed also contributes greatly to how serious the injuries will be, should an accident occur. At 55 mph, a driver has more time to react and can stop faster. A person is more likely to be killed in an accident at 70 mph than at 55 mph.

REPORTS THREATS BY 3 RELATIVES

A Granite City woman advised police this week that three relatives came to her house, threatening to have her declared incompetent and her children taken from her custody.

She reported being pushed into a chair and said they hurt her arms and twisted her fingers before leaving the dwelling. An officer noted the woman had scratches on her left arm and that her ring finger was bruised and scratched. She was advised to complete a fact sheet for presentation to court authorities.

In January, 1983, there were 99 traffic fatalities in Illinois, an increase of 30 compared to 69 in January, 1982.

In District 11, there were seven fatalities in January, 1983, a decrease of two compared to nine in January of last year.

Captain Bobby Henry, State Police commander at District 11, reminds all motorists, "The most dangerous mile is the one directly ahead. Don't make it your last."

THE FIRST MOISTURE REMOVAL SYSTEM.
Moisture, usually perspiration, is the major cause of cold feet. Because moisture is a very good conductor, it transfers heat off the foot, leaving you cold.
Our new boots feature a simple air circulation system that solves this problem. Simply put, moisture is wicked off the foot and drawn through the perforated lining into the ThermoFlex K. As you walk, the bellows action actually forces all moisture up the tongue and out the vents located at the top of the tongue. The result is the driest boot ever built. And the most comfortable boot you've ever worn.

Venice concerned over Madison assuming fire, ambulance calls

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record

Venice aldermen expressed some surprise at Tuesday night's city council meeting when learning that the Madison Fire Department already was aware of a new directive whereby that department now will take fire calls and apparently will provide ambulance service to all the unincorporated areas of Venice Township starting March 1.

Exempted from the fire service, which started Feb. 4, is the city of Venice and Eagle Park Acres. Both communities are in Venice Township, but have their own fire departments.

Fire and ambulance service will be offered starting March 1 by the city of Madison to the Benjamin and Bloodworth Additions, Rock Road and areas adjacent to these locations, according to Christ N. Paschoff, Venice Township supervisor, who informed the Venice City Council by letter.

What concerned the Venice aldermen specifically was the arbitrary inclusion in the plan of Madison now providing firefighting service at the Tri-City Regional Port facilities, previously served by the Venice Fire Department.

Whether Venice has a written agreement with the Tri-City Regional Port Authority was not firmly established at the meeting, but an affirmative consensus that city has some form of letter agreeing to respond to emergencies at the port district was stated.

The firefighting capabilities of the Madison department, numbering 23 firemen and eight cadets, will be augmented by Granite City and Venice fire departments, if assistance is needed, according to the proposal, Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

He doesn't know of any agreement like that, unless they're talking about the Mutual Aid Pact that's (in force) throughout the county," Mayor Echols commented.

"If they are making this decision on themselves (township) that is their law, but I can't imagine making that decision without contacting us and we'll just put it back in Mr. Ranft's lap," Carl Ranft is the Tri-City Regional Port general manager.

"It sounds to me like Christ (Paschoff) is just telling Ranft that's the way it will be," he added.

The mayor said he will talk with Ranft and ask for some definitive information. Mayor Echols said he was aware that Venice Township is providing a second ambulance to the city of Madison, using $27,000 in General Revenue Sharing funds. This amount is being advanced by the township to purchase the emergency vehicle, he said.

From what he has learned, the mayor said, Madison citizens will have the same contract as those being served in Venice Township's unincorporated areas to repay the ambulance cost.

"I understand the cost of the ambulance calls will be deducted until the vehicle is paid off and then will revert to the city," he added.

"Their ambulance prices appear to be in line. If only because of Madison's proximity to us, with Campbell's being out there," the mayor said. Campbell Ambulance Service, presently serving the city of Venice, is headquartered in Pontoon Beach.

"If we contract to use the Madison ambulance, we believe it will cost us $48 for Public Aid calls, plus mileage; $60 for Medicare, plus mileage; $75 for regular calls from within the city of Venice, again plus mileage; and $125 per call for those made out-of-town.

"If a regular call must be paid by the city (because the patient is unable to pay the bill), then we would charge us," Mayor Echols said he understands.

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin commented, "It sounds like a good idea now, but we've had problems in the past with Madison. It seems they've seen a way to get a free ambulance, but I don't know how we'd make out once it's paid for."

"Well, it is something for you to be thinking about and you may want to attend the next (Venice Township) town board meeting," the mayor told the aldermen.

"Maybe we need to have the attorney look into it to see what will happen when the ambulance is paid off, then what will we be charged?"

"The figures quoted by the fire chief of Madison are within bounds, but we don't know how long the $27,000 will last (repayment time) with them covering all the unincorporated areas," Mayor Echols stressed.

GCHS South orientation for new students Monday

Going to high school for the first time can be a frustrating and frightening experience, particularly for new students unfamiliar with the high school, notes Granite City High School South Principal James Dumont.

In order to avoid that, parents, current eighth graders are being invited to bring their sons and daughters to an orientation session on Monday, Feb. 15.

The orientation session will include art, business education, English, foreign auditorium will begin at 7 p.m. Handouts will include graduation requirements, course descriptions of ninth grade subjects and a worksheet for planning schedules of classes.

There will be three general sessions allowing the parents and future high school students to pick three areas of major or non-major interest.

Major area choices include art, business education, English, foreign language, home economics, industrial occupations, mathematics, physical education, programs, such as cosmetology and health occupations, science, social studies, and special education.

Non-major areas will include drivers' education, guidance and counseling, band and vocal music, physical education and athletics and speech.

The orientation session will conclude about 9 p.m.

Tavern named in decision on highway crash

The Little Dover Inn of Granite City was named in a landmark ruling Tuesday by the Missouri Court of Appeals.

Missouri lacks a dramshop law, the court said, but the court said a tavern operator who serves an intoxicated customer can be adjudged responsible for the customer's later actions. It was the first time a Missouri court has held an operator accountable in this regard.

The case involves a 1977 hit-run fatality in which a St. Louis County police officer, James Reifschneider, was struck by a vehicle on the shoulder of Interstate 270 near Linnegrove Blvd. while he was issuing a traffic ticket to another motorist.

The policeman's widow and three children filed suit in the St. Louis County circuit court, seeking damages from the driver and from two Illinois taverns the motorist had visited.

The dismissed suit can now be reinstated.

The three-judge panel cited "common law" in the absence of a dramshop law. It said drinking is believed to be a factor in half of all fatal auto crashes in the U.S.

William M. Schaffer was sued as the driver. He was placed on five-year probation for manslaughter.

The officer's family, with only a $10,000 policy, agreed to a settlement by an insurance firm.

One of the tavern owners who left leaving Frances Roberts, who operated the Little Dover Inn on Missouri Avenue, as the only defendant in lawsuit.

The appeals court decided to apply Missouri law in the case because the victim and the driver both resided in Missouri and the traffic mishap occurred in Missouri.

Its ruling cannot be appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court because the tavern operator's insurance company allegedly did not participate in the initial appeal.

The Illinois dramshop law sets a limit on potential damages but it will not apply in this case.

A bill to create a dramshop law is pending in the Missouri state legislature.

Industries agree—Southwestern Illinois a good place to operate

The local business climate of Southwestern Illinois was evaluated quite favorably by area manufacturers, according to the initial results of the Southwestern Illinois Industry Retention Program released yesterday.

The purpose of the program was to encourage the continued operation and future expansion of local industries through (1) the identification and resolution of local problems impacting industries; (2) the dissemination of information on various services and programs of assistance to industries, available through local, state and federal agencies and economic development groups; and (3) the survey assessment of existing industry's attitudes about doing business in Southwestern Illinois, with their perceptions conveyed to area legislative leaders.

Organized and implemented by area economic development professionals and a broad-based group of community leaders from more than 80 communities, the program represented a cooperative regional effort of the Economic Development Community of Southwestern Illinois to assist their local industries.

Instituted with Governor James Thompson's proclamation of October, 1981, as Industry Appreciation Month in Southwestern Illinois, the program entailed personal visits by commuty call teams on 146 area manufacturing firms to discuss local and regional problems.

These firms, and an additional 125 area manufacturers, completed an industry retention survey designed to determine their views about the area's business climate. In total, these 271 manufacturing industries accounted for nearly two-thirds of the manufacturing jobs in the 15-county region of Southwestern Illinois.

The retention program report, entitled "Existing Industry's Views of Southwestern Illinois: Some Initial Results," presents a summary of the industry retention survey.

Of the various factors surveyed relating to costs of production and/or community attributes, the survey results indicate the region of Southwestern Illinois has numerous positive attributes which allow the industrial base to operate profitably. Those factors evaluated most favorably by industry include market proximity, quality of utilities and community services, attitude of local government, transportation services, and most notably, employee-management relations.

Weak points of the region related to the attitude of the state legislature and state agencies toward business. Of the major business issues of concern to industry, worker's compensation and unemployment insurance ranked the highest.

The results of the industry retention survey are intended to serve as a basis upon which local community communication and cooperation for the mutual benefit of all.

Copies of the retention program report are being distributed to all governor and General Assembly members, the Illinois Economic Development Commission, community call team leaders, participating industries, community mayors and other area elected officials. Southwestern Illinois labor organizations and area economic development organizations.

Arrest 2 after disturbance

John G. Nolan, 18, of 1329 Carr St., was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct, following a disturbance and fight at the Game Room, 2420 Nameok Road, during the weekend. Records disclosed that Nolan also had five outstanding warrants against him, reports said.

Officers were called to that location, where an off-duty policeman and a security officer were having problems with Robert L. Brooks, 17, of 2111 Missouri Ave., who allegedly was very combative and wouldn't quit fighting, according to reports. He was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

After Brooks was handcuffed, Nolan, who also allegedly was involved in the disturbance, attempted to leave and was caught by an officer at the door.

Nolan then broke away from the officer's grasp and ran between cars parked in the lot and into the Kirkpatrick Homes, chased by the off-duty officer, and was caught in the 1400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes. It was then learned the man had five outstanding warrants against him.

Three warrants, which were issued last week, alleged criminal trespass to property, criminal damage to property and aggravated assault in a case involving windows being broken at the home of Mrs. Patsy Callahan, 3038 Thirteenth St. Nolan also allegedly made threats against Mrs. Callahan's daughter and her boyfriend.

Two of the warrants resulted from 1982 cases. One, alleging theft, stemmed from an incident at the home of Doris Lundry, 1327 Carr St., and the second, citing escape, was issued when Nolan reportedly fled when he was to be served with the warrant about two months ago.

Nolan appeared in the Granite City court Monday and pleaded innocent to all charges. Bond was set at $25,000 cash and he was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville on Tuesday.

Brooks, who was arrested after the Game Room incident, was released during the weekend on a $154 cash bond.

TWO HURT IN CRASH ON HIGHWAY THREE

Carl Jefferson, 33, and a passenger, Eric Martin, 22, both of St. Louis, were hurt last week when their southbound car allegedly passed a Highway Three stoplight and hit the right front of a turning auto.

Jefferson was charged with transporting beer and disobeying a traffic signal. Escaping injury was Agnes Miller, 852 Greenwood St., Madison, whose northbound vehicle was turning left to enter the Granite City Army installation.

Hoeft will discuss economics of fertilizer application. Alvey will talk about the why, how and economics of soil testing.

A storage tray was taken from the rear seat of a pickup truck, belonging to John Welshan of the U.S. Naval Station at Annapolis, Md., while he was visiting the home of Charles Morris, 2544 Lynch Ave. It was reported during the weekend.

An attempt also was made to steal the CB and antenna, he said. A vehicle, which had been seen near the truck, later was stopped by officers and the occupants were questioned.

Dismissal process proposed in county

By JIM SCHLUETER

A resolution establishing a procedure for dismissing Madison County appointed officials will be on the agenda of the Feb. 16 county board meeting, according to personnel committee chairman Fred Dalton.

Dalton, of Collinsville, said Tuesday that committee member Mike Semansin, of Maryville, has given his approval to the resolution. The committee tabled the resolution two weeks ago because Semansin wanted to study it.

Under the plan, a board member could call for the dismissal of an appointed official at a board meeting or in writing to the county board chairman. The matter then would be referred to the personnel committee.

The personnel committee would conduct a hearing on the dismissal of an official and the board member making the charge to present evidence and witnesses.

After hearing the evidence, the personnel committee would make a report to the county's executive committee. The executive committee, made up of all committee chairmen, would make a recommendation to the full county board.

The recent indictment of Assessment Supervisor James Barton has made county officials aware that no policy exists for considering the dismissal of officials appointed by the board.

In Barton's case, Dalton said, any county board investigation would not be called for until Barton's trial is completed.

"He is under indictment. I fail to see any good that would be done (by a county investigation)," Dalton said. "The county board is a legislative body. If the state's attorney, the grand jury and the court system were not involved, that would be a different matter, but the court system is already involved."

Dalton said that if Barton were to be tried and convicted, the question of dismissal would be answered. If Barton is acquitted, county board action might then be a possibility, Dalton added.

He said that despite his personal feelings on the board's role in the Barton matter, the case could be brought up by the personnel committee if any committee member wants to discuss it. The proposed resolution has been given to all county board members, including Harold Byers, Highland, who said last week a new committee may need to be formed to investigate allegations against county officials.

Not only has Barton been accused of handling what a witness has alleged was intended as a bribe, but State's Attorney Don Weber has been accused of alleged misconduct in a letter written by Belleville attorney Amiel Cuto.

Byers, a member of the legislative committee, said Tuesday that he was satisfied by the personnel committee's resolution.

The personnel committee came up with a proposal that seemed to pretty well handle it," Byers remarked. The proposed resolution deals only with appointed officials, Byers noted. He said the legislative committee learned Monday there is little the county board could do about an investigation of the lawyer's allegations, since Weber is an elected official.

"We (the legislative committee) were at a loss to find a statute where the board could have any remedy," Byers said.

He added that it is up to Illinois Attorney General Neil Hartigan and the Illinois Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission to deal with the Weber matter, if any action is appropriate.

"It's kind of disheartening," Byers concluded. "There's nothing we can do about it."

ing them for educational purposes.

2. Self-insuring was started in health and medical costs and in unemployment and workmen's compensation, reducing fixed charges.

3. Cafeteria operations were revised, with the annual loss cut from more than $600,000 to an estimated $300,000 in 1982-83.

4. Capital outlay purchases, other than replacements, were curtailed unless funds from other sources were available.

5. Warehousing procedures were revamped and inventories were reduced, with orders filled on a "need-now" basis only.

6. Transportation expenses were reviewed for re-routing, and gasoline-fueled buses were replaced by diesel buses.

7. Instructional fee costs were increased over the years to partly offset price rises.

8. Grant funds were secured for in-service training, curriculum studies, textbooks, instructional equipment and energy conservation.

9. Energy costs were reduced by buying more efficient equipment that offered a quick return on the investment.

10. Some courses were consolidated to simultaneously maintain programs and reduce expenses.

11. Savings were achieved through a variety of operational changes.

As Supt. Davis sees it, "To fully realize what these various reductions have accomplished while still providing a full range of programs, one needs only to look at the Granite City school district's per-pupil expenditures in comparison with other unit districts in the state."

Trim GC school staff

Statistics show the school system had actual operating expenses between 1976 and 1981 of $21, $17, $22, $17 and $24 less per student than the average cost in Illinois. The $17 difference was in 1979-80, when District Nine closed the McKinley, Washington and Stallings grade schools and the Logan annex.

During the same period, average daily attendance decreased from 11,235 to 10,756 to 10,244 to 9,755 and to 9,379 in 1980-81. The pattern shows enrollment falling by about the equivalent of one grade school annually, in contrast to years when growth was averaging the equivalent of a building a year.

The last school built here before World War II was opened in 1937. There were no new buildings until after a comprehensive survey in 1952, entitled "The People Look at The Schools."

The people took a look and decided that they needed a lot more school facilities. Two new schools were opened in 1955, one in 1956, three in 1959 and two in 1960. More schools then were constructed in 1965, 1968, 1972 and 1973.

Postwar school additions were completed at two schools in 1959, one in 1961, four in 1965, one in 1966, two in 1967, two in 1969, two in 1971, one in 1972, two in 1973, four in 1974 and one each in 1975, 1976, 1978, 1979, 1980 and 1981.

Associated with the district during many of the "boom years" were Board Members Monroe Worthen, George Moore and Donald Stucke.

Davis shouldered the superintendent duties in 1966. Youngsters who entered kindergarten that year have progressed all the way through the school system and are now seniors in college.

Although no current Granite City students have known any other District Nine superintendent, there also has been considerable stability in board membership, the "builders" have become "cost-cutters."

Why? Supt. Davis says, "The money just isn't there, nor is there a need for as many schools."

Davis opened his Feb. 1 explanation of school consolidation recommendations by saying, "This is the most unhappy task I have undertaken in my professional career."

Other school leaders share his viewpoint but all intend to make the 1983-84 school year a successful educational experience for students at all levels.

Despite operating only 12 schools instead of 18, the district is gearing to provide staffing and leadership for "quality," rather than quantity.

Average class size, being projected as a range of 30 to 35 but might be negotiable as officials and employee groups consider the cost impact and "fine print" of 1983-84 agreements. All present agreements expire in four months.

In the meantime, school authorities say that much of their winter and spring will be devoted to planning how to avoid overcrowding of buildings, avoid overloading of students' needs and potential, and avoid overloading of children's wishes and interests.

Charge Bliss

years on a regular basis, until as recently as a month ago.

Venice Police Sergeant Joseph Meehan was in the audience at Tuesday's meeting, said, "They sprayed oil about a month ago down there, didn't they?" He received a call from Venice Police Chief Farris Smith.

After the meeting, Sgt. Meehan told a reporter that the EPA's regional office in Collinsville was notified when "They were down there spraying on the ICG property about a month ago."

Venice Superintendent of Streets Thomas Scaturro said, "They are doing it all the time, every month or so."

"About 2 1/2 years ago, I offered them some chips (stone chips) because we had some we couldn't use. I told them if they got the oil and a man to spread the chips, they would have plenty to cover that area. But they said that would be too expensive," he added.

The action by the attorney general's office is the second filed against Bliss Inc., in connection with the oil-spraying incident.

Charges filed in October were withdrawn by the state because the company had not been given proper notice of the pending action, a spokesman said.

Bliss and his waste hauling firm is the object of hearings in Missouri in connection with spraying of contaminated waste oil from trucks in the Times Beach and Meramec Heights areas.

Bliss currently is operating under a court order, since his license renewal was challenged by the state of Missouri.

Mensing said earlier that the material in the Venice yards poses no imminent threat to those in the area and there have been no reports of ill health caused by the presence of trichloroethylene at that location.

The toxicity of trichloroethylene is not comparable to dioxin, but can cause liver problems in humans after exposure in high concentrations for several years, but such instances are rare, according to Stephen K. Hall, an industrial toxicologist, hazardous chemical expert and professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Trichloroethylene is most commonly used by industry as a solvent and is not generally too toxic, Hall pointed out.

After Tuesday night's council session, the reporter was told of a retired Illinois Central Gulf employee of more than four decades who has suffered from various illnesses in recent years, which physicians find hard to explain.

Recently, the railway worker was diagnosed with skin cancer, it was learned. However, there is no evidence, at this time, to link the man's illness to the dumping or spraying of hazardous materials.

Expand dam restrictions

Boaters will be prohibited from entering restricted zones within 300 feet downstream and 600 feet upstream of all U.S. Army Corps of Engineers navigation dams on the Mississippi River.

Signs, flashing red lights or other warnings will be posted at the Corps dams by Memorial Day, May 30.

A spokesman said that a serious hazard of drowning exists in these areas above and below the dams.

Swift currents and strong undertows are common. Boats have been pulled to the dams, capsized or pulled under the surface.

People have drowned, others have come close to drowning, and the Corps has determined that extending the restricted zone is in the public interest, the spokesman commented.

A 600-foot restricted zone upstream of Corps dams already is in effect and will not change.

The 300-foot restricted zone downstream of dams will be a change from the 100-foot zone now in effect.

The new downstream 300-foot zone is a return to the Corps policy which existed before the 1960s. Public pressure, mostly from fishing interests, resulted in Corps allowing boaters to come closer to the dams, the spokesman asserted.

The 300-foot restricted zone downstream will apply to all Corps of Engineers dams from No. 26 at Alton — the farthest south of all Corps dams on the Mississippi River — to Dam No. 1, Minneapolis.

Public safety and the prevention of drownings are the Corps' reasons for the wider restricted zones near dams.

Dan Todoroff

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In the early 1960s, Todoroff created an unusually talented group from among his young musicians at Coolidge Junior High by developing a Latin-American Ensemble, using authentic instruments and music.

The ensemble eventually attained broad recognition from public officials and media in all segments of the United States, including The New York Times, when the student group captured the attention of the president of Mexico, who invited them to perform in Mexico City in 1962.

The overwhelming response by the people of Mexico, who called the local pupils "Musicians Turned Diplomats" and referred to their program as part of "The Good Neighbor Policy," is reflected in the words of Senora Dona Eva Samano de Lopez Mateos, wife of Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos in 1963, who said, "The presentation of this fine group of talented youngsters was outstanding and becoming to the United States. We are proud to have this excellent director and his musical program."

"I extend my esteem and appreciation to the Latin-American Ensemble for its valuable contribution to our endeavors to raise the cultural standards of our people and for their splendid performance as well."

The group and its director were commended by James H. Webb Jr., cultural attaché for the U.S. Foreign Service, for their constructive contribution to Mexican-American friendship. His remarks were echoed by Amalia de Castillo Ledon, Sub-Secretaria de Asuntos Culturales.

"Mexican officials and musicians expressed amazement that a group of young Americans had captured the authentic sounds of Latin-American dance rhythms," one newspaper there stated at the time.

Commenting about the Granite City youngsters, The New York Times said: "An American school tested the theory that music is the international language of friendship and proved that in Mexico there is no better way of expressing The Good Neighbor Policy. Thousands of Mexicans listened intently and showed their delight with enthusiastic cheers."

The Mexico City visit proved so successful that the Latin-American Ensemble was asked to return to Mexico for a 16-city concert tour, including five performances in the capital, with all expenses paid.

Invitations also were extended by the government of Brazil to tour and perform at Brasilia, Rio de Janeiro and San Paulo, with that country also footing the bills. The latter request was turned down due to political difficulties in Brazil at that time.

The Latin-American Ensemble did return to Mexico for a second nationally televised visit in 1964, however, by invitation of the president and under the auspices of the American Embassy, the Mexican-American Institute of Cultural Relations and the University of Mexico.

This time, the ensemble performed equally successfully in Monterrey, Culiacan, Victoria, Tampico, San Luis Potosi, Queretaro, Cuernavaca, Acapulco, Salamanca, Guadalajara, Tijuana, Aguascalientes, Zacatecas, Durango, Torreón, Saltillo and Mexico City.

Following the tour, Todoroff was offered the consultant position by the Mexican Government in the National Department of Education to revamp musical instruction throughout the country's schools.

Todoroff also was honored here for his endeavors, receiving the Community Achievement Award of the Tri-Cities in 1962, Granite City Young Man of the Year Award in 1963 and the Distinguished Service Award from the Jaycees.

Over the years, the band director has performed with his musicians for almost all service clubs in the St. Louis and Granite City areas and at clinics and national conferences in Columbus, Ohio, and Chicago.

He is a past president of Phi Delta Kappa, the honorary fraternity for educators, former secretary of the Madison County Band Directors Association and holds membership in the Illinois Music Educator's Association, National Educators Association and the Illinois Art Education Association.

Todoroff also is a member of Ainal Shrine Temple, Masons of Illinois, Tri-City Shrine Club and the Phi Beta Mu Honorary Music Association.

The music educator has gained the respect of hundreds of students, their parents and the community in general. He will be missed by many pupils who will follow and those closely associated with him.

His capabilities and efforts have always soared upward, perhaps exemplified by his contrasting interest and hobby—mountain climbing.

This leisure-time activity was peaked a few years ago when he scaled an 18,000-foot snow-covered volcano in Mexico and was awarded membership in the Alpini Club of Mexico City.

Todoroff's immediate plans upon retiring in June are not definite, but he hopes to travel.

One thing is absolute, however. Music still will remain a very large and vital part of his life.

Tax rejection

cent tax only on telephone bills for a year, so the effect of possible refunds would not be as devastating as in other cities. Still, the city collects $21,000 to $23,000 a month from the telephone tax.

Attorney Slate said he is surprised at the Supreme Court's decision and said he plans to send immediately for a copy of the decision to be sure it does not apply to Granite City's utility tax.

He said the 1970 Constitution clearly prohibits Home Rule cities, such as Granite City, from imposing any tax on income, but contended the city's utility tax is not a tax on income. "Everybody knows that was designed to prevent municipalities from imposing an income tax. The court has had a field day with that in applying it to other situations."

"They tried to use it on our sales tax. The debate at the (1970) Constitutional Convention makes it clear it is not intended to apply to the sales tax, but the Constitution was written in such an ambiguous form, the courts have had a field day," Slate continued.

"The Supreme Court made it clear in this week's decision that the ruling was based upon the prohibition of so-called 'occupation taxes' in the Constitution."

"Oh, that is bad news," reacted Granite City Clerk Robert W. Stevens when informed of the high court ruling's possible implications here. "We have been counting on that stop-gap measure (the five percent telephone tax) to provide additional funds for financing the city. It goes a long way toward the operation of the city."

Stevens remarked, "I presume that, if the ruling is found to apply to Granite City's telephone tax, 'the city council finance committee will have to be thinking of other ways to raise that money.'"

Slate said the city has been confident in the legality of the tax when Illinois Telephone Co. failed to challenge it in court. "Obviously, the utilities agree (that it is legal), or they would have challenged it," he noted.

A spokesman for Illinois Power Co. said yesterday that the initial reaction of the company's legal department in Decatur was that the high court's actions appear to apply only to cities using the "Rider T" billing by IP, which is "a municipal consumer's tax." Cities using a "utility tax," including Quad-City area municipalities, probably will be able to continue to collect the tax. IP's attorneys plan to study the ruling in detail before making a final announcement.

The court's opinion, written by Justice William G. Clark, said that taxes on utility company gross receipts from businesses in the cities is legal.

since that tax was authorized by the state legislature. However, the opinion continued, "service" or "occupation" taxes on consumers not authorized by the state legislature violate the Constitution.

A year ago, a Lake County Circuit Court blocked utilities from collecting the three percent utility tax in Waukegan, but let stand a five percent tax Waukegan had imposed on the utility company's gross receipts.

In Cook County, a three percent utility tax on cities was challenged and the Supreme Court decision.

Cook County, Waukegan and other cities have argued that the tax is a tax on tangible commodities, such as electricity or gas, and not on a service or occupation.

Even if the state legislature acts in the near future to authorize utility taxes to municipalities, any taxes paid under unconstitutional ordinances will have to be refunded to the consumers, in some manner, either through direct refunds or a reduction in future utility bills.

The ruling will undoubtedly cause financial hardships on East St. Louis, National City and other affected municipalities which did not keep the contested money in escrow accounts until the issue was cleared up in court.

Army of God

On the day of the Florida blazes, a letter from the "Army of God" claimed that it had set both fires. The letter was delivered to a St. Petersburg television station.

The two fires occurred within an hour of each other and resulted in total damage of $120,000.

Dr. Zevallous and his wife, the former Rosalie Jean Krekovich, were taken last summer from their home by armed men who posed as prospective purchasers of property the couple had for sale.

The three said they felt they were carrying out God's wishes in trying to halt abortions in the United States.

"Epistles" purported to quote God's viewpoint on the issue.

On Feb. 4, a man who said he was sent by "the Lord" smashed a dozen windows at the Hope Medical Group for Women, Shreveport, La., described there as a clinic associated with Dr. Zevallous.

Shreveport police charged Donald P. Duncan, 29, with using a nine-pound sledge hammer to break windows. Six members left temporarily and no one was injured.

MEXICAN TELEVISION performance by the Coolidge Junior High School Latin-American Ensemble in the early 1960s shows a youthful Robert D. Todoroff, band director, conducting his nationally-acclaimed group. The ensemble also performed for President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico and returned to Mexico in 1964 for a 16-city concert tour. Director of the Granite City High School North Band since the school opened in 1973, Todoroff has announced his intention to retire at the end of the current school year. His decision was made last June and submitted to the Granite City Board of Education in October, the educator reports.

Mooring buoy at locks gone

Two of the three mooring buoys located downstream of Locks 25, Alton, have broken from their anchorage and have floated away. One of the buoys has been recovered, but one remains missing.

The buoys are white steel cylinders, 12 feet in diameter and 41 inches high, styrofoam filled, with a structural steel framework extending above the top of the cylinder to support the mooring rings.

A person who has knowledge of the location of the missing buoy is being asked to contact the Corps of Engineers, Navigation Branch, at (314) 263-5854.

Meanwhile, only one of the three buoys is available for towing awaiting their lockage tug. The buoys are being redesigned to better serve their intended purpose and will be replaced in the near future, a spokesman said. Mooring is to be limited to two tows and no more than 15 barges per tow on the remaining buoy.

DRIVER HURT AT NAMEOKI-VICTORY

Fred J. Southwick, 61, of 3909 Myrtle Ave. suffered an injury when he halted his northbound vehicle on Nameoki Road at a traffic light at Victory Drive and the car was struck by another auto also going north.

Operating the second car was Kent E. Hall, 2208 Edna St., who escaped apparent injury.

Port applies for $895,000 grant

The Tri-City Regional Port District applied Monday for a $895,000 grant from the U.S. Economic Development Administration for extending a rail spur at the Bi-State harbor and putting a truck dump in the bulk loading facility at the local port.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council (EWGCC) is to meet at 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 14, to act on the grant request, either endorsing it or recommending that it be rejected. The EWGCC staff is recommending that the full council endorse the application.

Speaking about the grant, Carl Ranft, general manager of the port, commented, "We're after it. We're competing for it. We think we've got a pretty good story, but if someone comes up with a better story, they'll get the money."

He said EDA has pledged to let the port know in about 30 days if it will receive the grant.

Bids opened for Brandon Heights sewers

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

A drum roll might have been appropriate Wednesday as Morris Miles, chairman of the Madison County Sanitary Sewers for Special Service Area Number One Committee, opened 10 sealed bids for construction of a new sewer line, bringing the disputed Brandon Heights Subdivision issue closer to resolution.

The line will be laid along the south edge of Old Alton Road. Bids ranged from a high of $83,110 from G. H. Sternberg, a firm here, to a low of $56,625 from O. T. Dunlap Co. in Edwardsville. Charles Junot, special service area engineer, will review the bids and forward his recommendation to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for final approval. The wide range difference in bids was due to "high overhead" of some companies, Juneau said.

While the Dunlap bid seems the highest, the bids have not yet been completely read to make certain they follow EPA specifications, Juneau assured the committee that Dunlap has handled major jobs in Madison County and also has done work for EPA contracts, so the agency's qualifications are known, to the firm.

Juneau said it will be 30 days before the EPA has completely reviewed bids and the EPA probably will need 30 days for its review.

After items on the agenda were discussed, Nick Hamilton a Glen Carbon Democrat and recently appointed sewer committee member, questioned Miles and Irvin C. Slate Jr., service area attorney, about Brandon Heights. Hamilton said he had been in the subdivision and wanted to know exactly how the problem started.

Slate said that before homes were constructed there, easements were established, but due to a funding shortage they were never officially recorded with the county. When the homes were built, a different easement was used by the contractor and sewer lines were laid through the back yards.

Several property owners built swimming pools and carports over the sewer lines and, when the dispute started, those owners refused to allow the sewer line to be moved. A lawsuit was filed against the service area. The committee offered to buy easements from residents and most of them had agreed to allow the county to assume ownership.

"A month or so ago we had it down to everybody but one or two," Slate said. The holdouts realized they were the last ones considering the proposal and they thought they had leverage," Slate continued. The proposal was rejected.

Under 100 percent agreement, the committee found itself back at the proverbial drawing board. According to the committee, the continued dispute is over money. Some residents have to do a thing to those that they could get a "substantial amount of money" from the committee. Throughout the dispute, residents at committee meetings have alleged that it would cost the service area $125,000 or more to move the lines. Miles said he heard figures as high as $200,000 from residents.

"It got to the point where the dollar amount meant more than the sewer line," he said.

Miles said he believes the residents will realize they have made a mistake after the sewer line is reconstructed and they are not the special service area's system.

Gene Futch, service area superintendent, added that, "normally, we'd sewers. They'd outlast the homes."

Despite the opening of bids, the service area will continue its attempts to resolve the dispute before a contract is signed. Bidders were told that the project may never get underway if the residents do not agree to a settlement.

Miles said that about 13 residents there are seeking more than $70,000 to settle the issue. But, with the opening of bids, the committee established yet another option to the continuing fight about how much the residents deserve from the county. Committee members seemed much more relaxed than at previous meetings as bids were opened.

The present sewer system will be sanitized and capped off when service is discontinued.

A letter will be sent from the committee to Wilfred Eberhart, Chouteau Township highway commissioner, that the township has the service area assumes responsibility for damages during the project. Old Alton Road will not be damaged during the project, Miles said, but Eberhart was concerned it might be.

The main problem will be moving water meters, Juneau told the committee. Dirt will be placed on the road during construction, which will take 60 days.

In other actions, the committee received results of a study conducted by the county Environmental Control Department on the breadloaf area sewer system, owned and operated by Jerry Wade. The county is working toward taking over the sewer system and hooking the subdivision to the special service area.

The study found "a very high water level" in a lagoon there; "weeds and brush" around the levee walls that could cause the levee to weaken; an enclosure sign had been torn down; inadequate warning signs around the lagoon; possible fire blockage in the area and fresh sewage seeping out of the overflow.

Problems there are due to gradual deterioration over 13 years, the study said and Miles alleged that improper maintenance has furthered the problems.

According to the study, state and county environmental rules have been "repeatedly violated." The study concluded that "the lagoon is a potential health hazard for residents of Meadowlark."

The committee also heard a complaint sent to the EPA from the Be Co Concrete, Inc. of St. Louis, alleging a "failure of guarantee" by Juneau. The company manufactures concrete pipes that Juneau had considered recommending the service area purchase for a project. He rejected their use, however, because he believes the type of ring on the pipes would not hold but had been conducted according to regulations and Juneau was not at fault.

The letter to the EPA alleged that Juneau did not comply with bidding regulations. Slate assured the committee that bids had been conducted according to regulations and Juneau was not at fault.

Juneau also told the committee that he had not told the company that the sewer area would purchase the pipes and no agreement between the two had been made.

Driver's case seems familiar

Madison County Associate Judge Tom Hildebrand may have felt a tinge of déjà vu when an O'Fallon man walked into the Granite City courtroom to enter his plea on a traffic charge.

Hildebrand had seen on the man several times before on the same charge of driving while his license was suspended and recognized 22-year-old Michael Lane.

In fact, Hildebrand remembered that Lane was in the courtroom several days before in a different case involving the same charge.

To add another twist to the latest incident, Lane apparently had second thoughts after being sentenced to 364 days in the Vandana Correctional Center. He asked to change his guilty plea and requested a public defender, Collinsville police said.

On Jan. 27, Lane pleaded guilty to the latest charge and was sentenced to 364 days from the public defender. Hildebrand said he had been charged with the same offense several times before.

The judge agreed to appoint a public defender. Lane was taken to the Madison County jail pending arraignment.

The Illinois Supreme Court on Monday said medical subsidies for about 130,000 needy must continue until after a Feb. 17 hearing and court decision. The high court allowed the governor to proceed with budget cuts in all other areas pending a final ruling.

He also called for "circuit breaker" real estate tax help for senior citizens and the handicapped to be expanded, reducing revenue by $20 million a year.

He also recommended shifting $120 million of new state receipts to local-level governments to "reduce pressure to increase real estate taxes."

Budget Director Robert Mandeville said that, if no new revenue sources are provided by the General Assembly, the administration has a list of 63 ways to prevent deficit spending in 1983-84.

Cuts would include school curricula, universities and college layoffs, an end to unemployed persons' medical and income support, no more medical funds for the working poor, reduced payments for poor children's health services, elimination of revenue sharing and general assistance, closing of state parks, reduction of agricultural programs and abolition of arts grants.

House Majority Leader Jim McPike of Alton said he hopes a compromise can be reached to avoid unacceptable reductions in state services.

He speculated that inclusion of a cutoff date in new recession-spawned taxes might make them more acceptable.

State President Earl Lutzerson praised the governor's "courage and foresight" in seeking funds to prevent cutbacks that could seriously damage higher education.

Two men arrested on alcohol charges. Two men were arrested at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday by Venice police on alcohol-related charges after Danny McCallister, 27, of 527 Jefferson Ave., allegedly was observed driving in a reckless manner.

While driving west on Broadway, McCallister's vehicle was seen swerving from one side of the street to the other, a witness told police. He allegedly drove drunk, Madison police said that was traveling east on Broadway.

After being stopped in the 700 block of Broadway, McCallister was charged with improper lane usage and driving while under the influence (DUI) of intoxicating liquor.

Police alleged finding a half-empty can of beer in the vehicle and arrested Darwin Lane, 19, of St. Louis, and charged him with being a minor in possession of alcohol. Lane was released on $52 cash and McCallister was either to pay $154 and post his driver's license, or pay $304 cash for his release.

The Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency has declared Madison County, LaSalle, Pike and Sangamon counties eligible to collect federal disaster aid to replace bridges, sewers and other public facilities damaged in December by flooding or by tornado winds.

The appellate court has upheld Morton Grove's ban on handguns.

A truck driver, Harold Elliott Sr., 46, Belleville, escaped injury when his truck was shot at by a sniper this week as he drove off Interstate 70 onto Route 159.

Three bullet holes were found in the radiator of the vehicle and a fourth under the right headlamp. The truck was disabled and the driver escaped injury. Nationally, a ten-day-old strike by independent truck drivers appears to be nearing an end.

State President Earl Lutzerson praised the governor's "courage and foresight" in seeking funds to prevent cutbacks that could seriously damage higher education.

Two men arrested on alcohol charges. Two men were arrested at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday by Venice police on alcohol-related charges after Danny McCallister, 27, of 527 Jefferson Ave., allegedly was observed driving in a reckless manner.

While driving west on Broadway, McCallister's vehicle was seen swerving from one side of the street to the other, a witness told police. He allegedly drove drunk, Madison police said that was traveling east on Broadway.

After being stopped in the 700 block of Broadway, McCallister was charged with improper lane usage and driving while under the influence (DUI) of intoxicating liquor.

Police alleged finding a half-empty can of beer in the vehicle and arrested Darwin Lane, 19, of St. Louis, and charged him with being a minor in possession of alcohol. Lane was released on $52 cash and McCallister was either to pay $154 and post his driver's license, or pay $304 cash for his release.

Boy Scout Troop Seven of St. Joseph's Church opened Scouting Anniversary Month with two events during the first weekend of February.

The first was the troop's court of honor for winter of 1983. Chairman of the court was Life Scout Mark Brazel, who planned and hosted the court.

There were two skits by the Flaming Arrow Patrol and two by the troop's Leadership Corps.

Flaming Arrow demonstrated the four proper swimming and water rescues, "throw, reach, row and go."

Members of the Corps demonstrated CPR techniques. Brazel and the scoutmaster presented a skit in honor of Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Kevin Williamson.

"Footprints of the Pioneers," a scouting movie, was shown.

Presentations of awards opened with the scouting coordinator of the troop, Steve Kusmierczak, giving the charge to the troop committee and presenting the 1982-83 troop charter to the committee.

Assistant Scoutmaster Larry Williamson Sr. gave the charge to junior leaders and presented the charter to the scouts.

The scoutmaster presented Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Steve Kusmierczak with a four-year service star pin. Mrs. Betty Hagen treasurer, awarded merit badges, certificates to Joe Kusmierczak, art, safety and citizenship in the nation; Steve Kusmierczak, art, and pulp and paper; and Greg Hagen, pioneering.

Brazel presented a Life Scout certificate and pin to Joe Kusmierczak. The silver palm was awarded to Eagle Scout Steve Kusmierczak by the assistant scoutmaster.

The silver palm indicated that a scout has earned 15 additional merit badges after meeting the requirements of the Eagle badge.

Joe Kusmierczak gave a report on his proposed Eagle Scout project. If approved, his project will involve youth groups who live in states bordering the Mississippi River.

Canned foods, vitamins, clothing for children 14 and under, aspirin, children's shoes and dried foods would be collected for the people of Honduras. Some of the collected items would remain to help families in Illinois.

In addition to the scouts and parents attending, the troop welcomed Ralph Walden and Eddie Hoyer to the court.

The scouts continued the celebration of Scouting Anniversary Month on Saturday with a dinner at the Old St. Louis Pizza Factory and then attended the New York Rangers and St. Louis Blues 2:30 ice hockey game.

Salute to hospitalized veterans is on Monday

Sports and entertainment stars, along with community and government leaders, will gather in Veterans Administration medical centers on Valentine's Day, Monday, for the 10th annual national salute to hospitalized veterans.

Special events for that day also are being planned by veterans, civic, religious and youth groups. Festivities will include talent shows, celebrity visits, musical programs and VA benefits workshops at most of VA's 172 medical centers, 226 out-patient clinics, 96 nursing homes and 16 domiciliarys.

The program will be coordinated at each medical center by VA's Voluntary Service, the organization that oversees services for hospitalized volunteers who nationally contribute nearly 11 million hours to VA patients every year.

According to Edward F. Rose, VA's director of Voluntary Service, individuals or groups interested in joining the salute on Monday may contact the Voluntary Service at a nearby VA medical center.

"Help is needed to build enthusiasm and a festive atmosphere so that the misfortune of being hospitalized can be temporarily dispelled," Rose said.

Expansion of recall rights is proposed

Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 is proposing an expansion of teachers' recall rights, according to the local's monthly publication.

The Illinois School Code says honorably dismissed teachers have a right to faculty vacancies for the following school term or for one year from the beginning of the following school term.

The Salary and Policy Committee of Local 743 has suggested language to the Board of Education to expand recall rights "for as long as dismissed teachers wish, as long as they do not tender a resignation and seek compensation for accumulated earned absences," the publication says.

"Recall would be according to the greater length of continuing service within areas of qualification," Teachers who at some point submit a resignation and receive compensation for accumulated earned absences would forfeit recall rights,"

Steve Isenberg, a teacher, tells of testifying at a State Board of Education subcommittee hearing in Mount Vernon against proposals that would "end existing state mandates requiring driver education, physical education and other education programs."

Treasurer Larry Diak announces in the publication that he will be a candidate for president of the local in May.

Members of Granite City Federation of Teachers Secretarial Council 743 will attend a workshop in Belleville Feb. 19 on state school funding. Speakers will include Margaret Blackhere of the Illinois Federation of Teachers.

DUI driver gets 364 days

In an appearance in the Granite City court Monday, Benjamin C. White, 31, 2926 Morgan Ave., was sentenced to serve 364 days in the Vandallia Correctional Institution.

He was sentenced after pleading guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and driving while his Illinois license is revoked. He was taken Tuesday morning to the Madison County Jail, Edwardsville, pending transfer to Vandallia.

White was arrested earlier this week when a patrolling officer noticed a southbound driver lose control of his vehicle, which skidded sideways into northbound lanes of Madison Avenue.

The auto was halted at 15th Street and Madison. A check on White's Missouri driver license showed it was valid, but further scrutiny disclosed that his Illinois license had been revoked.

Hotline for chiropractic clarification

The Peer Review Committee of the Illinois Chiropractic Society (ICS) has announced the opening of a telephone hotline for the benefit of insurance carriers and citizens who may require clarification about specific chiropractic procedures.

The hotline number, now in operation is (312) 929-4922. The ICS is the professional voice of the chiropractic profession in Illinois.

During the past six months, it has conducted a series of surveys to determine the specific needs of the insurance industry with regard to chiropractic.

"The response clearly indicated that insurance adjusters need a method of clarifying chiropractic procedures and terminology in order to facilitate claims payment," Dr. Daniel A. Michael, committee chairman, said.

"For this reason, the committee has been established to provide access to non-judgmental information about specific aspects of chiropractic care."

The hotline will allow simple questions about terminology or methodology to be dispensed quickly by Peer Review members without the time delay of a Peer Review submission and evaluation procedure.

However, the hotline is not designed to replace the Peer Review mechanism in which disputes about a procedure are referred to a panel of impartial chiropractic physicians for evaluation.

"It's the patient who will benefit," said Dr. Virgil C. Johnson, president of the state professional society.

"The ICS feels strongly that it has a mandate to do whatever possible to help the patient—both by providing effective health care and by effectively containing the cost spiral."

For more information on chiropractic procedures, individuals may write to the Illinois Chiropractic Society, 200 East Roosevelt Road, Lombard, Ill. 60148.

Mobile Meals seeking funds

Contributions are being accepted for a second year and other needs of the local Mobile Meals program.

A spokesman said, "Everyone, in some way, has felt the economic hardship of the past several years. But there are those who have been affected even more than others—physically handicapped and certain aged persons."

"In an effort to assist these homebound citizens, St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City sponsors a Mobile Meals program which reaches into the homes of these people, providing them with a nutritional meal five times a week."

"The Mobile Meals program, now in its 13th year, has provided meals to many hundreds of individuals since its inception. In 1982, a total of 130 people received help."

"In an attempt to expand coverage to more local people, the program's 1982 budget ended several thousands of dollars in the red," the spokesman related.

"The medical center expected this to be a losing program," said Mary Hellige, SEMC home health director. "That's why we have always sought private donors."

At present, there are 90 people receiving at least one hot meal a day, prepared to each individual's dietary needs, with more than 40 individuals on an ever-growing waiting list.

This year, the Mobile Meals program has received approximately $7,000 in contributions. Most recently, the program was given a boost with a $500 donation from Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 1126.

According to Mary Hellige, the program currently needs $24,000 to $28,000 in contributions this year to supplement it and to help with the expected increase in the number served.

"Some wait up to two months to receive assistance," she said. "Often, this is during the convalescing period after a patient is released from the hospital. This is the period of their greatest need."

Each meal costs $2, and each recipient pays what he or she can. Some pay nothing and some pay a dime.

At present, only 25 percent of the 90 people receiving meals can afford the total cost per meal.

"We have an aging population," she noted. "Children work and many older residents can only get the available family support on weekends."

"These clients are the parents of local residents who hope their mother and father will be able to continue living independently in their own homes."

Currently, 72 percent of the clients live alone and 61 percent are over the age of 75.

The Home Health Department has applied for state and federal funds to help subsidize the program, but there are no funds that apply BOOST FOR MOBILE MEALS. On behalf of the Mobile Meals program, Mary Hellige, home health director at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, accepts a $500 donation from Jess Brown, past president of Eagles Aerie 1126. to this type of nutritional care in the home.

"Nutrition centers get state and federal monies," she explained, "but if you can't leave your home, no help is available."

Mobile Meals started in 1970 as a joint venture of church volunteers, Catholic Charities and Protestant Welfare.

SEMC provided the meals. Protestant Welfare handled the billing, Catholic Charities assisted clients in their homes, and volunteers from various churches drove their cars from home to home, delivering the meals.

By 1976, the program grew so large that SEMC took over the billing, client screening and meal preparation. Disabled American Veterans Chapter 53 donated a van.

"We are desperately in need of a second van," Mary Hellige said. "This would allow us to serve even more people and would help lower the count on our waiting list."

Tony Elliot, Mobile Meals driver, and volunteers unload meals, set the table and enter the ever-growing list of the homebound.

As one recipient sees it, "Not only is getting a nutritional meal vital, but just seeing a friendly face is also very important."

Moose Lodge 272 enrolls members

There were 150 members present for the class enrollment ceremony of the Local Order of Moose, Lodge 272, held last week at the Moose Lodge, 19th and Adams streets.

Granite City Lodge Governor Jim Tadlock opened the meeting and introduced Elmer Dintelman, vice-president of Illinois Moose Association, as guest speaker for the evening. He traced the history and current programs of Mooseheart, and Moosehaven during his talk.

New members installed were, Leonard Scaturro, sponsored by Tom Manis, Larry Easter by Joseph Smith, Shelby Siebert by Donald Moore, Charles Moore by Kenneth Boner, Leroy Morris by Don Morris, and Larry Reeder by Jim Menzies.

Member of the ritual team who performed the ceremonial were John Parker, Joe Smith, Kenny Hancock, Pete Schmidt, Tim Tadlock and Roy Hughes.

Dinner was served by George and Marian Lipscomb after the meeting. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

12 senators return salary

Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, was one of 12 state senators to return a five-day furlough check in an attempt to save state employees' jobs.

Gov. James Thompson last fall requested that elected officials and state employees take five-day furloughs from work to help ease the state's financial plight. But employees also have been returning checks that cover the five-day furloughs.

Sen. George E. Sangmeister, D-Mokena, first presented the furlough plan last spring, proposing through an amendment to pending legislation that officials and state employees give up part of their pay and return it to the state treasury. When the Senate voted on Sangmeister's proposal, it mustered only 20 of the 30 votes needed for passage.

State can help workers buy failing businesses

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that employees who face job losses due to plant closings may consider purchasing and operating the facility outright with assistance provided by the state and private sources under the new Illinois Employee Ownership Assistance Act.

A pamphlet outlining the program now is available through the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

"The lives of many people evolve around the company they work for. Nothing can be more devastating than to learn your job is being eliminated," Thompson said. "Under this legislation, signed last September, employees now have a chance to keep their jobs and become owners of a company."

The program includes the formation of a seven-member Employee-Owned Enterprise Advisory Council to which workers can turn for technical, financial and managerial advice when attempting to purchase a plant. The governor-appointed council of business leaders and government leaders will work with DCCA and be chaired by Lieutenant Governor George Ryan.

"This council will provide an important avenue for employees to keep their jobs while, at the same time, become an integral part of the way that company is managed," Ryan said.

Loans to help employees purchase a business will be made by the Illinois Industrial Development Authority (IIDA). Both the council and IIDA must approve the loan application, which could go as high as 50 percent of the total cost of the transaction.

Priority in granting loans, which cannot have an interest rate lower than 70 percent of the prime rate and must be repaid within 15 years, will be given to projects with high outside funding and that have the greatest impact on job creation and retention.

"An important aspect of the program is that state and local governments will work with the private sector in an effort to retain jobs," Thompson said. "More importantly, employees who face losing their jobs don't have to stand by helplessly. They can do something."

Pamphlets can be obtained by writing Office of the Director, Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, 22 S. College, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Amvets Auxiliary 51 aids several programs

Members in attendance at the regularly scheduled meeting of Amvets Auxiliary 51, 5100 Lakewood Drive, voted to make a donation of $100 for the Mobile Meals program at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, after a letter requesting assistance was read by secretary, Charlotte Torregrossa, and Sister Mary Thomas, Medical Center's Administrator.

She stated in her letter that more funding was needed as over 25 percent of the people now receiving the meals are unable to pay anything at all. The presentation of the donation was made by President Betty Wilkins, Senior Vice-President Barbara Siebert and Junior Vice-President Jenny Kidwell.

Other recipients of donations from the auxiliary were: Illinois Amvets Service Foundation Scholarship Fund; National Amvets Rehabilitation Scholarship Fund and the Carrillon Fund.

In a review of Amvets Auxiliary 51 Service Projects, President Wilkins announced that fruit baskets were presented to the residents of Alpha Center by herself, Jenny Kidwell, Charlotte Torregrossa and Sister Mary Thomas. Mrs. Wilkins also noted that she and S.O.S. Chairman Shirley Schienschang delivered snack food items to the G.S.O. at Lambert Field in January.

Other forthcoming service and social events, according to President Wilkins, are an ice cream social and Valenline party for the residents of the Madison County Sheltered Care Home in Edwardsville, this week and a family day pot luck dinner and Valentine party at the post home on Feb. 12, at 2 p.m. for members and guests.

A King and Queen of Hearts will be crowned and a crazy auction will be held with the proceeds used for service projects.

After a general discussion concerning K-Mart's fencing and what the auxiliary and post members feel is a hardship for handicapped shoppers and what they fear could be a potential fire hazard, President Wilkins authorized a letter to be sent to Fire Chief Don Parente, advising him of their concern and fears.

In her capacity as Americanism Chairman, Mrs. Wilkins announced that all grade schools in Granite City have been presented with auxiliary Americanism coloring contest pictures for third and fourth graders plus rules concerning the contest. Contest, Poster Contest and Essay Contest. Rules will also be published in the paper for those students who may not be able to do so as a classroom project.

First place winners in the three categories will receive a $50 savings bond and their entries will then be entered in the state competition which will be judged during the Amvets Auxiliary Department Convention held in Mount Vernon, on June 17-19th.

Ann Tucker, V.A.V.S. (Veterans Administration

Voluntary Service) associate representative to John Cochran V.A. Medical Center announced that Feb. 14 is the date set for the annual "Salute to Hospitalized Veterans" program at John Cochran, and asked for a donation and volunteers to assist in the special activities planned for the patients.

Many sports personalities are expected to attend and visit the patients and gifts will be presented to them by volunteers. Members voted to send a check for $25 for the special fund set up for the purchase of the gifts and several members volunteered to assist with the annual "salute."

Mary Shaffner, an auxiliary member, and also a member of the "Wives of the 11th Airborne Division," presented the auxiliary with a check for $25 on behalf of this group in recognition of the many charities and service programs performed by Auxiliary 51.

On Jan. 31, a party was given for the patients at John Cochran V.A. Medical Center. Games were played, prizes awarded and refreshments were served. Those attending from the auxiliary were, Betty Wilkins, Barbara Siebert, Charlotte Torregrossa, Brenda Wells and Ann Tucker. Amvets in attendance were, Chester James, Dave Harris and Floyd Tucker.

Before closing the meeting, President Wilkins announced that Feb. 26, is the tentative date set for the Auxiliary Chili Supper.

Mrs. McKinney opened the session followed by a moment of silence in memory of the late Mrs. Marie Naevs, a member who died Jan. 26.

The pledge to the flag was recited in unison and Chaplain Debbie Pritchett led the group in the Mother's Prayer.

A discussion followed on the budget for the ensuing year, which was presented by the financial committee.

Hostesses for the evening were Hilma Few, Mary Church and Pat Tsigaloroff. They served refreshments to the DeMolay members and advisors at the conclusion of their meeting.

Talent Auction of Church Women set

Quad-City Church Women United will hold a "Share Your Talent Auction" as one of their Funds for the Fifth Decade projects. The auction of handicrafts and services will be held on Feb. 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church. Everyone is welcome and those attending are asked to bring a brown bag lunch.

The fund for the Fifth Decade includes a nation wide, three year campaign with a goal of four million dollars. This first capital campaign in Church Women United history, has been undertaken because income has not kept up with inflation much less the new or increasing critical issues members must face in the eighties, the president said.

Needed are dollars to more effectively cope with priorities, especially, the issues of employment, education, hunger, justice, human rights and peace. The Quad-City area goal has been set at $3,000 to be raised over a three year period. Thirty percent of the amount raised may be kept by the local unit to implement goals of Church Women United through existing and new projects and programs, Mrs. Corzilius added.

Items are still needed to be auctioned and can be delivered to the church on Thursday, Feb. 17, between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12 and 1 to 3 p.m. Perishable items may be brought the morning of the event or call Delores Vogeler 876-1520 for further information.

Old Farmer's Almanac is chapter program

Mrs. Nora Rains exhibited and gave the history of the Old Farmer's Almanac at a meeting of the Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Sorority, held last week, in the home of Mrs. Laura Mae Lombardi, 229 Zippel Ave.

During her presentation, Mrs. Rains explained this year marks the 191st issue of the publication which was first printed in 1793. The cover was changed in 1852 and is still in use. The first copies sold for a sixpence, approximately eight cents. Originally the book was written and published by Robert W. Thomas and is the oldest continually printed periodical published in the United States.

For many years the Old Farmer's Almanac (original spelling) was always kept beside the family Bible and was consulted almost as frequently. In rural and semi-rural areas it has never lost its popularity, Mrs. Rains noted.

President Delores Dorte called the business segment to order at 7:30 p.m. with reports given by Ruth Stoyanoff, secretary and Pat Tsigaloroff, treasurer.

Mrs. Dorte noted, an official communication had been received from International containing rushing material.

Mrs. Tsigaloroff presented a new point system to be used in selecting the recipient of the Girl of the Year award, which was approved by the members.

Ways and Means Chairman, Mrs. Rains, announced her committee will hold a rummage sale on April 29 and 30 and requested volunteers to help with the fund raising project.

Mrs. Lombardi served a fruit pastry, made from a traditional recipe from southern Italy, accompanied with tea and coffee to those named and to Maria Jean Dyer, Imogene Forrest, Arlene Haldegren, and Jane Laule Stevens.

Regional wrestling action begins this Friday

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

of the Press-Record
Well, this is it. Wrestlers from both of Granite City's high schools have competed and trained the entire season for what begins this weekend — post-season matches.

Granite City North's Steelers have proven themselves as the area's premiere wrestling squad during the course of the season. In doing so, the Steelers have amassed their second consecutive undefeated season and a winning streak that stands at 41. They will go to Collinsville seeking their second consecutive regional title. Prior to that, Granite City High School and South have ruled supreme in regional competition.

Although Granite City South's Warriors have not equalled the Steelers' success this season, they, too, should not be taken lightly, especially in the heavier weight classes.

wrestling

With a season-ending victory over Gateway East Conference rival Althoff last week, coach Bill "Red" Schmitt's Warriors have racked up 15 victories this season, while yielding only 10.

Schmitt will be seeking his 25th regional championship. Both schools will begin regional competition this Friday as the Steelers travel to neighboring Collinsville to compete in that regional while the Warriors will travel a little farther to the O'Fallon Regional.

The Steelers will begin preliminary round competition on Friday, Feb. 11, at 6 p.m. The semifinals and consolation matches are scheduled to begin on Saturday at 11 a.m. with the regional championships scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. The Warrior schedule will differ slightly.

According to O'Fallon officials, the preliminary round will begin on Friday at 6:30 p.m. with the semifinals and consolation matches beginning at 10 a.m.

The O'Fallon Regional championships are scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. Joining North in the Collinsville Regional are neighboring Roxana, Civic Memorial (Bethalto), Edwardsville, Highland, Jerseyville, St. Jacob (Triad), Wood River and host Collinsville.

Hopefully, we'll be able to get quite a few guys through the regional," North's coach Walt Whitaker said. "The real test will come the next week during the sectional," Whitaker said.

In O'Fallon, the Warriors will be pitted against all three Belleville schools (East, West and Althoff), Cahokia, East St. Louis-Lincoln, East St. Louis-Senior, Macomb and host O'Fallon.

"I really think we got a break not having to compete in the Collinsville Regional," Schmitt said. "That'll be a tough one. Because we're competing in O'Fallon, we might qualify a few more wrestlers for the sectional," Schmitt said.

Going into Friday's contests, the Steelers will feature three undefeated grapplers: Rod Unger at 126 pounds; Bruce Widel at 155 pounds and John Morris at 185 pounds.

Although they are not undefeated, North's 98 and 105 pounders, Colin Davis and Greg Nemeth, should advance to sectional competition as well.

Both Unger and Davis qualified for state last year. Although the younger Warrior team has shown great improvement during the course of the year, the Warriors best chances for advancement into the sectional competition will come in the form of Mark Dowdy, Jon Frangoulis, Dave Brown and Paul Hitchcock in the heavier weight classes.

Dowdy will wrestle at 155 pounds, Frangoulis at 167, Brown at 185 and Hitchcock as a heavyweight. Both Frangoulis and Brown were state qualifiers last year.

Those grapplers surviving regional competition will grapple in the Granite City South Sectional next weekend, Feb. 18 and 19, followed by the state championships on Feb. 25 and 26 in Champaign.

The following wrestlers will represent North in the Collinsville Regional and South in the O'Fallon Regional:

96 pounds: GCN, Davis, 28-1; GCS, Jeff Cotter 23-8.
105 pounds: GCN, Nemeth, 27-2; GCS, Darrin Singleton 2-24.
112 pounds: GCN, Brent McKenney 21-5; GCS, Sean McGovern 14-13-1.
119 pounds: GCN, Brian Hayes, 3-4; GCS, Tom Sparks 9-14.
126 pounds: GCN, Unger, 29-0; GCS, Joe DeShon, 7-1-1.
132 pounds: GCN, Mark Whitaker, 11-15; GCS, Darrin Hasty 2-14.
138 pounds: GCN, Ken Patterson, 13-7; GCS, Mike Fenoglio, 8-17.
145 pounds: GCN, Monte Kessler, 17-7; GCS, Henry Brown, 2-4-1.
155 pounds: GCN, Widel, 29-0; GCS, Mark Dowdy, 21-6-3.
167 pounds: GCN, Bill Zimmer, 23-6; GCS, Frangoulis 28-2.
185 pounds: GCN, Morris, 28-0-1; GCS, Brown, 16-6-1.
HWT: GCN, John Kramer 14-13; GCS, Hitchcock, 24-6-1.

Madison edges O'Fallon; meets H'land in finale

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — Stephanie Walker was the only spark of life in an otherwise "dead" Madison Trojanette basketball team.

Walker, a 5-8 forward for Madison, made a last-second jump shot that gave the Trojanettes a 22-20 win over O'Fallon in the semifinals of the Highland St. Paul Girls Basketball Tourney Wednesday.

Madison also defeated Belleville Althoff 38-34 in a championship quarter-final game Monday.

The Trojanettes, 10-3 this season, will play Highland Sr. Saturday at 4 p.m. in the championship game of the tournament. O'Fallon will play Triad in the third-place game at 2 p.m.

As far as Madison coach Carol Cole was concerned, the Trojanettes were dead in their semifinal contest.

However, the Trojettes came to life in the final eight seconds of the game. Madison's Kim Stanley fouled the Panthers' Cindy Perkins with eight seconds left. The first of Perkins' free throws bounced on the rim into the basket, but Perkins missed everything on the second shot, giving Madison the ball.

The Trojanettes called timeout, and Cole set up the play.

"We wanted to get the ball to Stephanie—or anyone that was close to the basket. I realize sometimes girls panic and shoot with four seconds left, giving the other team a chance to score. I told the girls not to take a shot before two seconds appeared on the clock," Cole said.

"We also planned to have no rebounders under the basket. I could envision someone getting a foul underneath and O'Fallon making a free throw to win," she added.

The inbound pass came into Angie Shipp, who moved towards the basket until she found Walker near the basket. Walker waited until the magic second to release the 10-foot jump shot from the side.

Her shot hit nothing but net, and Walker was swarmed and tackled by her teammates.

"That was the one thing that went exactly the way we wanted it to go," Cole said. "All we wanted them to do is get the ball inside and take a good shot. We did that perfectly."

However, that was one of the few things that went perfectly for Madison in the game. The taller Panthers controlled the boards, often keeping Madison to only one shot through much of the game.

In addition, Madison's full court pressure wasn't very effective. It forced few turnovers, and O'Fallon took the air out of the ball with a deliberate battle plan.

To indicate how deliberately the Panthers were playing, Madison led 6-4 at the end of the first quarter and 12-10 at halftime.

"We were dead out there tonight," Cole said. "We played so well against Althoff and so pitifully against O'Fallon. I don't know what happened to us."

O'Fallon went to the inside shooting of Tina Rich and the outside shooting of Theresa Thomas to score. Most of the time, O'Fallon spent its time trying to find the perfect shot.

"We weren't moving, and we were flat-footed. Usually it's one gal who is flat-footed, and the others take up the slack. However, everyone was flat tonight, and we couldn't get out of it," Cole said.

Rich was the only Panther in double figures with 10 points.

Madison shot well from the field, making 10 of 34 from the field for 47 percent. Cole said, "We shot a lot more than that. Usually we shot 50 shots and up in a game. I don't care if the girls miss a shot as long as it is a good one, and we didn't take a lot of good shots," Cole said.

Walker and Regina Banks led the Trojanettes with 10 points each.

MADISON 48, ALTHOFF 34

Madison's 3-1-1 zone pressure gave the Crusaders fits as Althoff could only score 20 points in the first three quarters. Only when the Crusaders tried to run with Madison did Althoff's offense opened up.

The only reason why Madison didn't win by more than 14 points was its shooting percentage. Madison only made 19 of 49 shots from the field for 39 percent.

During the first half, the Trojanettes did a lot of standing on offense and missed some opportunities to score. However, the defense was impressive.

Madison forced Althoff to commit nine turnovers and took a 13-6 lead. The Trojanettes followed up with more of the same and led 24-14 at halftime and 32-20 by the end of the third quarter.

In all, Madison had 17 steals for the game. That, and other turnovers by the Crusaders, added to an easy victory for Madison.

"I'm really glad we played good defense because we needed it with the way the offense was going. I think we were a little bit tired, and we had to back off a little bit because of the stupid fouls we made early," Cole said.

"I was really glad when they went man-to-man, because there was no way they were going to catch us in a running game. I knew not to put a man-to-man on them because they could run the ball too," Cole said.

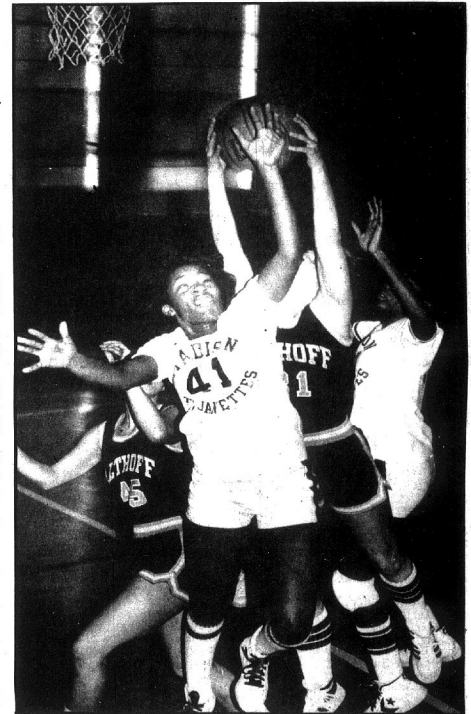

Banks was the only Trojanette in double figures with 19 points. Kathy Crotty led Althoff with 12 points.

SHUCKS! Madison's Lenora Williams (41) gives a snarl of disgust as Belleville Althoff's Cori Rudolf grabs a rebound away from her Monday. Madison missed that rebound, but got many others as the Trojanettes defeated both Althoff and O'Fallon en route to the title game of the Highland St. Paul's Girls Basketball Tourney Saturday.

Cougars edged by 10th ranked St. Mary's 63-62

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — Even in defeat, it was the finest hour for coach Don Pugliese's Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville basketball team in its nearly completed 1982-83 season, as the Cougars battled gallantly against St. Mary's University of Texas in a nerve-rending 63-62 loss Monday night at Edwardsville High's gym.

With a large and loud crowd of St. Mary's fans in attendance, the Rattlers' early demonstrated why they are ranked highly in NAIA ratings. The Rattlers' coach Buddy Meyers are excellent basketball players recruited from throughout the United States; two seniors, Gary Gaspard and Ricky Hooker, led the victory with 14 points each.

Gaspard is from Los Angeles and Hooker from Graham, N.C. Their third highest pointmaker, Jay Mahone, with 12 points, is from near-by Wisconsin.

Bob Gray, 6-8 center from Chicago, played a brilliant game for the Cougars and led the losers with 17 points and his eight rebounds was tops for both squads.

A sensational tip-in jam basket by Gray in the game's final seconds, which would have given the Cougars a one-point lead, was disallowed by the announcer of the SUE fans.

The call could have gone either way. From the opening tip-off, it was obvious that the Cougars were "up" for the game.

And, that may have been the problem. They were so "up" that they were just a wee bit too "tight."

On the opening tip-off play, the usually sure-handed Jim (Buzzy) Logan of Wood River missed a lay-up basket that normally he'll make blindfolded. Just seconds later, the Cougars' ace freshman guard, Jeff Condit, also missed a driving lay-up which would have given SUE a 4-0 advantage.

In fact, SUE didn't score until the 18:12 mark, when Logan hit a tip-in basket off of a Gray hook-shot attempt.

With 3:10 remaining on the clock and St. Mary's with an apparent safe 10-point 56-46 lead, the Cougars began their rally. Gray's steal and lay-up basket with 3:17 remaining narrowed the gap to 56-50. Condit's steal and basket cut it to 61-58 St. Mary's with just 11 seconds left to play.

Now, the crowd definitely felt they were going to see an upset.

But, the Cougars finally ran out of time.

And, in the process the Rattlers racked up their 19th victory (five ties), while the Cougars fell to 8-17. And, its definitely going to get tougher for the SUE cagers. Saturday, they'll be at Charleston, Ill., to battle the Eastern Illinois U. Panthers who are enjoying a good year.

Monday, SUE will return home for a test of major proportions a game against Chicago State U., the nation's No. NAIA power.

Twenty-four game stats show Logan and Gray tied for Cougar scoring honors with 10.6 points per game. Logan's 537 field goal average is by far the best. Joe Duckworth, who gained a starter's berth against St. Mary's, paced free throw shooters with a (21-23) .913 average.

Condit, who as a freshman has impressed greatly, is carrying a 9.5 per game average. His ball-handling and scrambling abilities are the main reasons for his value to the Cougars.

Warriors to face Madison, North this weekend

Emotionally, this weekend will be a trying one for Granite City South's basketball team.

The Warriors have not just one, but two, crucial rivals to go up against this weekend. The Warriors will have a difficult game with 17-4 Madison, which again is among the top Class A teams in the state.

After that battle, the Warriors and Granite City North play Saturday in the Steeles' final home basketball game. It will likely be the final game between the two schools unless both teams advance to the Granite City South Regional championship game.

In other high school basketball games this weekend, North travels to Belleville Althoff for a Gateway East Conference game, Venice goes to East St. Louis Assumption for a non-playoff conference game, and the Red Devils play winless Worden Saturday in a Ilii-Gateway Conference game at Venice.

All varsity games start at 8 p.m. Granite South coach Don Deterding said, "Those two games are obvious rivalries for us. Madison has been very tough for us lately, and the closing of North is going to give a lot of meaning to the game to North. They should be very interesting games."

The Warriors' first challenge is trying to stop the Trojans, which features a balanced scoring attack. John Hughes (13.4 points per game) and Leroy Fryer (13.3 ppg) are the high scorers for the Trojans.

Deterding is concerned about stopping guards Hughes and Michael Young. Hughes has been averaging 11.1 and 10.1 points a game respectively.

"Madison is extremely quick. We have to slow them down and keep them from running up 10 or 12 points on us. We have to beat them down the court on defense and slow them down," Deterding said.

"We can't get into a running game with them or they'll be shooting their way down the court," he said.

Deterding expects the Trojans to pay close attention to forward Pat Linhart, who is averaging 19.4 points a game for the Warriors, so he is hoping that Paul Macies or John Linhart can take up some of the load.

Either Brian Pithers or Jim Hillmer will start at center for the Warriors, Deterding said.

The next night, the Warriors travel up Nameeki Road to play the Steeles. A capacity crowd is expected to be at North for the Steeles' final home game before the closing of the school.

North coach Bill Ohlendorf is not stressing the fact this is North's final home game to the Steeles during practice.

"I've never been the kind of coach to use emotions to get kids up for a game. It's not my way of doing things. I want the kids properly prepared for each game and let the emotions fall where they may," Ohlendorf said.

The Steeles are led by Brian Levin and Steve Tritschsch, who are averaging 11.1 and 10.1 points a game respectively.

North, 2-16 this season, has improved steadily since the beginning of the season. The Steeles lost to highly regarded Belleville East last week by 15 points.

"The boys have accomplished a lot this season. They are playing above their talents right now," Ohlendorf said. "I'm quite happy with the way we have looked in the last few weeks."

Meanwhile, 3-15 South, a 16-point loser to the Lancers, is at the point where Deterding expected them to be at this point of the season.

Deterding expects the emotions to be on North's side Saturday. "It's going to be very loud over on their own court, and that means a lot to them. The acoustics aren't too good over there, and 5,000 fans there are going to sound like 5,000 somewhere else," he said.

Ohlendorf thinks that Althoff will give North a severe challenge. Last week, the Crusaders defeated both Edwardsville and Belleville West.

The Red Devils could be challenged Friday at Assumption if the Pioneers can get their act together. As for Worden, Venice edged those Trojans 77-70 in an earlier IGC game.

Warriors lapse, fall to West's Maroons 56-45

By MICHAEL BARTELS

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY The Granite City South's women's basketball team played the Belleville West Maroons even for most of the game Tuesday night, with the exception of a five-minute stint in the second period. South dropped the game to the Maroons, 56-45.

The keys to the game were cold shooting and quick fouls.

At the end of the first period, the Maroons held a narrow lead, 13-11. South was executing their offense well, getting the ball inside and moving the ball quickly up court, beating the West defense back.

Starting the second quarter, West held a slim two-point lead on the Warriors. South took the tip and played with Belleville until the teams were tied at 19 points. Then the lid closed on the basket for the Warriors.

Granite South
Warriors

For over five minutes South went cold while Belleville West scored 13 unanswered points.

The second period was also damaging in that three South players picked up three fouls in the span of about three minutes. The Warriors were pegged hurt mostly by the fouls crippling starting center, Trish Skinner.

West increased their two-point lead to 13 at the end of the half, 34-21. In the first half, South was whistled for 12 fouls and West only three.

The third quarter saw both teams offensively relatively ineffective, scoring only 10 points each. South stayed within ten for most of the quarter, exiting the stanza still 13 down.

In the fourth period, the Warriors cut the lead to eight at one point, but seemed to lack the intensity necessary to force the turnovers needed to get back into the game.

"We made some mental mistakes at the end of the game that prevented us from getting back in it," coach Gary Morgan said after the game, admitting his team seemed a little flat.

Morgan said he thought the recent injuries of some of the players might have contributed to their slow play and early fatigue. The South starting point guard missed practice Monday and two of his other players had missed practice last week because of sickness.

Morgan credited the Belleville program with being very solid. "They're the kind of team you walk away from shaking your head, he said. "They didn't do anything spectacular, they're just solid."

Trish Skinner led the Warriors with 16 points, while Lisa Adams added 12.

Only four Warriors scored in the game.

The Warriors were led by soft-shooting Joy Carmody with 19, Jody Lisch with 13 and Nancy Frerker with 10.

The Warriors were outscored by only two field goals but gave up eight freethrows. Granite City shot only three free throws all night, making one.

The Warriors also dropped the Junior Varsity game to Belleville, 57-44. South was led by Dawn Ifland with 15. Joni Ross led West with 10.

BELEVVILLE WEST: (56) Carmody 8-3-19, Lisch 6-1-13, Patton 2-0-4, Frerker 4-2-10, Elser 3-0-6, GRANITE CITY SOUTH: (45) Adams 6-0-12, Thornberry 4-1-9, Juhász 4-0-8, Skinner 8-0-16.

Linhart signs letter of intent with WIU

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER

Sports Editor

of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — John Linhart, 18, the Granite City South quarterback, the last two seasons who reaped havoc on his opponent's defensive secondary, signed with Western Illinois University Wednesday, Feb. 9.

According to NCAA recruiting guidelines, Wednesday was the earliest that a high school athlete could sign a national letter of intent.

By signing with the Leathernecks, Linhart receives a full scholarship which includes tuition, books, room and board.

The 6-foot-1 195-pound senior linked his pact at 9:45 a.m. yesterday while his mother, Warrior coach Jerry McKeehan, South principal James DuMont and Western Illinois University's Randy Ball looked on.

The fact that Western Illinois was interested in Linhart should surprise no one. He has amassed an impressive list of credentials during his tenure as the Warrior signal caller.

Linhart led the entire Gateway East Conference in yards passing this year with 1,206 yards. His completion percentage of 49.7 percent, the best in the GEC, led all other quarterbacks in the conference by at least 600 yards.

In fact, only one other quarterback, East St. Louis' Haug, threw for a better percentage in the entire Metro-East area. Haug's completion rate was 62.7 percent.

With those kind of statistics, it's evident why Western, a team that's historically known as a passing team, were interested in Linhart. Last year, the Leathernecks averaged 235 yards in passing while a ground game that averaged 188 yards per game supplemented the air strike.

"We plan to throw the football a lot again this year and we feel John's one of the finest quarterbacks in the area," Ball said. "We're very happy he decided to sign with us. We feel he'll be able to represent Western well," Ball said.

Linhart was also being recruited by the University of Minnesota. He decided on Western Illinois earlier in the week because, he believes, he'll get a better chance of working himself into a starting role under first-year coach Bruce Craddock. In addition, to being Western's head coach, is the quarterback coach.

"I'll also have the opportunity the play baseball at Western," Linhart said. "Whereas if I'd gone to Minnesota I'm sure I wouldn't have had that opportunity."

An outfielder for the Warrior nine last year, Linhart, who throws right and bats left, batted 350 last year. In addition to football in the fall and baseball in the spring, Linhart occupies himself during the winter months as an alternate starter for the Warrior basketball team. In these days of specialization, a three-sport letterman is a feat in itself.

Linhart's prowess on the athletic field has opened many doors for him, but he realizes the value of furthering his education. It's for that reason, he said, that he's attending Western — to major in business.

Continuing his education is something that was obviously impressed upon Linhart early. Academically, he is 12th among the 350 students of his class.

"My husband and I are extremely proud of John," his mother said. Linhart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Linhart of 3141 Aubrey.

NEW LEATHERNECK. Granite City South's quarterback John Linhart signed a letter of intent Wednesday to attend Western Illinois University. There to witness the signing are Linhart's mother, Mrs. Judy Linhart, Warrior coach Jerry McKeehan, James DuMont, South principal and Randy Ball (seated) of Western Illinois University.

North's DePew signs with 'Fighting' Illini

By ROGER KRAMER

of the Press-Record

The past month has been a pretty quiet one for Granite City North placekicker and catcher Daren DePew.

said.

DePew made it official Wednesday morning by signing a national letter of intent to attend Illinois next year. In the process, DePew picked up a full scholarship for the coming school year.

The signing itself was a low-key event. Illini assistant coach Max McCartney arrived at the DePew residence at 8 a.m. yesterday. By 9 a.m., DePew signed the letter in the presence of his parents, Mel and Sharon DePew.

During his three years on the Steeler football team, DePew scored 180 points through field goals, extra points and touchdowns. He kicked 21 field goals and 45 extra points for the Steelers.

He also holds the state record for the longest field goal, 54 yards. DePew made the record kick against Wood River in 1981.

As the Steelers' placekicker and punter last season, DePew averaged 53.5 yards per kickoff and 36.7 yards per punt.

Next year, DePew's attention will be strictly placed on kicking for the Fighting Illini football team and catching for the baseball team.

However, DePew would also like to play at linebacker before his college playing days are over. "So far, all they want me to do is kick for them," DePew said. "I want to play both linebacker and kicker if I get lucky enough."

DePew chose the University of Illinois over Missouri, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh and the University of California at Berkeley for a couple of reasons. DePew won't be far from home, and his parents will have many opportunities to see him at Champaign.

The main reason why DePew chose Illinois was he has a good opportunity to start next season. Mike Bass, the Illini's placekicker last year, will graduate in May, leaving the position open.

DePew is one of two candidates for the placekicking position for the Fighting Illini. The other is sophomore Chris White, the son of Illinois head coach Mike White.

"I think I will have a good chance to play next year," DePew said. "I've got a lot of work to do in this summer."

When DePew isn't playing baseball this spring and summer, he will be practicing field goals at either the Granite City North or the Granite City South football field.

Since college football players are allowed to use kicking tees on field goal and extra point attempts, DePew doesn't expect the transition from Granite City's natural grass of Champaign's artificial turf to affect his kicking.

DePew, who will be majoring in physical education at Illinois, isn't quite worried about how he will do at Illinois yet.

"First of all, I'm concerned about how Granite City North's going to do in baseball this season," he said. "I'm not going to worry about football until the season comes up."

However, DePew's enthusiasm for the University of Illinois shows.

"I'm looking forward to playing for Illinois. Coach White has a good program, and it's going up all the time," DePew said while giving the thumbs-up sign.

Annual St. Patrick's Day Run set for March 12

More than 5,000 runners, by far the most ever to compete in a St. Louis running event, are expected to celebrate St. Patrick's Day on March 12 by competing in the fifth annual Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run through the streets of downtown St. Louis.

The five-mile "fun run" is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at 9th and Market Streets, finishing in front of the Old Court House. The Natural Light Parade Run is open to all runners.

"The Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run has without a doubt been the most successful running event in St. Louis," stated John L. Sullivan, race director. "Because of the response to the run by runners throughout the Midwest, we're anticipating over 5,000 runners will compete." The 1982 Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run attracted a field of more than 3,400 runners, the largest run in St. Louis history.

The competition categories for competing male and female runners in the Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run are: 13 and under; 14 to 19; 20 to 24; 25 to 29; 30 to 34; 35 to 39; 40 to 44; 45 to 49; 50 to 60; and 60 and over.

The top 10 finishers in each division will receive awards, including medals, running gear and merchandise from Natural Light beer. Each entrant receives a race packet which includes the official Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run T-shirt, a race number and additional race information.

Natural Light beer will award prizes to the three best costumed runners entering the run. The first-place prize is the use of a chauffeured limousine on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, and dinner for four at the Blarney Stone, the official Race headquarters.

For runners who enter the run prior to March 2, the pre-entry fee is $4. After March 2, the entry fee is $7. The deadline for entering the run is March 11.

Following the run, refreshments will be served. There will be a post-race award ceremony at 1 p.m. at Kiel Auditorium.

Entry forms are available at the Blarney Stone, Casey's Sports Stores or at any one of the YMCAs in the St. Louis area.

Additional information on the Natural Light St. Patrick's Day Parade Run is available by calling 241-0535 between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

IFT cautious on tax proposal

Noting that the Illinois Federation of Teachers (IFT) has been urging an increase in the state income tax for nearly two years, Robert M. Healey, president of the 45,000-member statewide teachers union, voiced cautious support Wednesday for Gov. Thompson's proposal to raise the state's income tax rate.

"In order to survive, education is going to require in excess of $336 million to $1.5 billion in new revenues proposed by the governor," Healey said.

"Elementary and secondary schools will need more than $200 million, while higher education will need at least $136 million to make up for the severe cuts that have been imposed the past years," he said.

Healey cited specifics to support his claim: "The state's share of educational funding has declined from 48 percent to 40 percent."

Illinois provided fewer actual dollars in 1983 than it did in 1982 (in spite of rising costs), a first in the state's history.

Funding of Illinois higher education now ranks 44th on a national scale (an all-time low).

Teacher pension fund appropriations have been "short-changed" 40 percent and 37 percent, respectively, the past two years — allegedly jeopardizing the solvency of the fund.

Thousands of educational programs have been eliminated or severely curtailed, and thousands of teachers and other educational workers have been thrown out of work.

Charging that the schools have become a regular scapegoat, Healey said, "Every time the state has run short of money, the burden has been placed on the schools."

"Revenues from an income tax increase must be used to reverse this trend or these proposed increases will be meaningless."

The very future of our state's economy depends, in large part, on a well-educated work force, and that requires schools, colleges and universities that are properly funded."

Healey took strong exception to remarks made by the governor in his "state of the state" message. Criticizing the IFT and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees for challenging Thompson's budget cuts in court.

"We went to court because we believe the cuts made by the governor under the emergency budget act are unconstitutional, and that is intolerable."

We also believe that these cuts will cause irreparable harm to children, the mentally ill, the aged and the needy," Healey concluded.

Woman, 21, is abducted

A 21-year-old Eagle Park Acres woman told Madison County sheriff's deputies that she was abducted Sunday at 11 p.m. from outside her residence by a man she knew who struck her and restrained her.

Sharon D. Williams, of 205 Watson St., went to the East St. Louis police station Monday at 7 a.m. to report it, and county authorities were summoned. The suspect was also the station being held on another charge.

The victim said she was sitting in front of her home in a vehicle with a male friend when the suspect, who she said is a former friend, approached the vehicle on the passenger side and demanded that she get out.

She alleged that he put his hand in his coat and said he would "blow her head off" if she did not get out of the vehicle.

Miss Williams said she feared the man would kill her. She said he grabbed her by the arm and pulled her from the car. When he approached the suspect, the woman alleged that her friend was threatened.

When she resisted, the suspect allegedly began slapping her about the head and shoulders and said, "You're coming with me or I'll stop your head into the ground."

After he forced her from the vehicle, she said, he took her to his home and restrained her from leaving with the threat that she would be killed. At the Madison County jail she signed a battery complaint. The suspect remained at the East St. Louis jail.

OPTIMISM FOR FARMERS in 1983 is expressed by Larry Werries, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture, at a news conference on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Werries was the keynote speaker for an all-day agribusiness seminar with attendees from more than 250 persons. The event was sponsored by the department of finance and the Center for Management Studies of the SIUE School of Business. Werries said new federal programs, low inflation and dropping interest rates are combining to paint a brighter future for farmers. (Photo by Charles H. Cox.)

Feels stray shopping carts create hazards

To the Editor:
I want to congratulate K-Wart for installing "The Fence." I think all stores that have shopping carts should also have a similar fence. If not a fence, than a very large deposit (at least $100) on any cart leaving the store.

Keeping the shopping carts off the parking lot is a great benefit for everyone. Shoppers leave carts in parking spaces and in driveways, causing a hazard. Also, during a storm these carts become dangerous, unguided missiles, crashing into cars or whatever or whoever gets in the way. BILLY IRVIN

Asks if utility rate hikes will ever stop

To the Editor:
To every person in the area there is the problem of high utilities. We all seem to wonder where will it all end? So many people are now jobless with no hope soon of a job. Those few who do have jobs have had to take pay cuts back just to keep their jobs, but our problem still exists

— the high utilities. Our pay seems to either stay the same or be lowered, but still the utilities get higher. What are we to do? Where does it all end? Something has to happen. People here in the U.S. are starving, stealing, and killing. We always hear about other countries which need help and, of course, the U.S. helps. When are they going to start helping us here? We are becoming like the other countries. I've seen people and heard them beg and plead for help, because they can't make ends meet. So they resort to stealing. Maybe we should all move to another country, just so we can get help, because they sure aren't helping anyone here. We are all Americans and should be proud of it, but how can we hold up our heads and be proud of a place that won't even help its own people. If this is Reaganomics, I for one can do with it out. MIDDLE CLASS CITIZEN

Wife says violence is not done by truckers

To the Editor:
I'm getting disgusted with all the talk about the truckers' Strike and the violence. There seems to be a myth — truck drivers are all a bunch of burly, mean, tuffans. That's just what it is, a myth. Sure there may be one or two rotten apples in the bunch, as there is in everything, but basically they are hard working men out there trying to support their family and pay their bills.

If anyone would take the time to think about it, he would see that truck drivers do not want to harm anyone or each other. They do not want to ruin their expensive equipment for the sake of the notoriety that's the whole point of this strike to begin with. The truckers can't afford to strike, but then again, they can't afford not to. I know there are a few people who don't like the big trucks on the roads, but these trucks pay more than their fair share of road taxes every year.

This violence, if looked into closer, would be found to be the truck drivers, who are some sick-minded people who have nothing better to do with their time than harm innocent people and expensive equipment.

Withholding tax on interest is ill advised

To the Editor:
There could hardly be a less desirable way to increase federal tax revenues than the scheme to withhold income tax on interest and dividend income.

This scheme is unnecessary and will result in only a minimal increase in revenues. It also will alienate and infuriate the millions of honest taxpayers who will have to put up with it.

Yet, unless the new Congress takes immediate action, this ill-advised program will go into effect on July 1, 1983.

In the past, Congress had had the good sense to respond to aroused public opinion and kill similar schemes. This one got through last year because, with no warning, it was tacked onto the general tax bill and killing it would have meant killing the overall measure.

The Treasury itself admits that the withholding of interest payments on the more than $250 billion outstanding U.S. Treasury and U.S. agency obligations, not counting E-bonds.

This makes a lot more sense than forcing virtually all interest and dividend paying banks, savings institutions, corporations, mutual funds and brokerage houses to become tax collectors. (The plan also covers U.S. government securities, including E-bonds.)

Perhaps worst of all is the mass confusion this scheme will create. Withholding will be optional with the payer if payments total less than $150 per year. For most investments, interest will be withheld from each payment, but withholding could be once-a-year on passbook and checkbook-type accounts.

It goes without saying that a scheme as all-encompassing as this one also has many built-in inequities, and that they will fall hardest on those who can least afford it. There is certainly to be a lot of over-withholding — and, in some cases, people entitled to refunds may neglect to file for them.

An exemption system is provided for people 65 and older who did not pay more than $1,500 in taxes in the previous year ($2,500 for joint returns) and for anyone who paid $600 or less ($1,000 for joint returns). But to get exemptions, people would have to file with each interest and dividend-paying source, disclosing private details about their incomes and, for senior citizens, their age.

Because it is based on the previous year's tax, the exemption system also is unfair to people whose incomes drop in the current year, people who have retired, for instance, or who have lost their jobs or other sources of income.

There's still time for Congress to give this incredibly ill-advised scheme quick and certain burial. Those who agree that saddling millions of honest taxpayers with this complicated and cumbersome system is the worst possible way to boost tax revenues, should let their U.S. senators and representatives in Congress know — and do it now.

Students gain positive sense of self-worth

To the Editor:
It is unfortunate that, due to financial problems, many of our teachers will soon be unemployed. One teacher, in particular, deserves our special consideration.

Her name is Mary Ann Bright. I feel strongly that she should be retained as the vocal teacher at Granite City High School.

She gives her students time, care, attention, and a very real sense of self-worth.

She has touched so many students' lives. I sincerely hope our school board will give her a chance to continue her fine work. JANICE A. SCHNEIDER

This week a time to honor Catholic schools

To the Editor:
Catholic Schools Week is observed Feb. 6 to 12. The Diocese of Springfield theme this year is "In God We Trust and Teach." Our theme also has a hint of the traditional Catholic love of country.

This theme is an expression of the needs of Catholics, Christians and all human beings to depend on God and the need to pass on the recognition of dependence to young people.

CSW in the Diocese of Springfield is not a mere superficial observance. It is a week in which we recommit ourselves to the sacrificial generosity of people and of money to educate our young.

Although the national CSW is observed at the beginning of February, each school must observe each week during the school year for its celebration.

CSW is a joint project of the National Catholic Educational Association and the Dept. of Education of the United States Catholic Conference.

GC man's proposal for Week for Fellow Americans advances

To the Editor:
Recently I received a letter from the White House, from the director of the Private Sector Initiative regarding my proposal to have a Week for Our Fellow Americans, those that work for long periods, losing their homes, cars and jobs. Most of these are middle-income families, along with lower income as well, who have had it with the recession and are paying a high price in losing everything.

My proposal at first was sent to Governor Thompson's office in Springfield, then sent to Washington, D.C. for further action and recommendations. I hope my suggestion will take root, and be implemented into a national drive by the news media to acquire money on a large scale to help these people, our fellow Americans.

Michael Castline, acting director, thanked the forwarding office in Springfield for my letter, suggesting a very vigorous and commendable program. In his letter, he states, "We all have an important part to play in making our community a better place to live. It is people like Mr. Konkovich, who can make the difference. I look forward to learning more about Mr. Konkovich's program."

Keeping in mind that "money doesn't grow on trees" these days, what should Illinois schools attempt to teach?

Quad-City area school systems, all hard-pressed for funds, are keeping a close watch on State Board of Education studies and hearings which could result in Illinois School Code revisions if legislators agree.

It is being proposed that the state define "schooling." The definition then could serve as a template to use in assessing priorities among the multitude of present and possible future demands on education.

The definition being recommended by the State Board's staff in its Phase I Mandates Studies appears to be specific as to the unique or primary purpose which schools should have.

It also acknowledges the relationship of "schooling" to education, to schools as institutions, and to other social agencies.

1. Schooling is a formal process which has as its primary purpose the systematic transmission of knowledge and culture, whereby children learn in areas fundamental to their continuing development.

2. These fundamental areas of learning are the language arts, mathematics, sciences, social studies, (history, government, geography and economics), the fine arts, and physical development and health.

3. Although schools have a shared interest with other agencies and institutions in the education of children and youth, these shared responsibilities, as important as they may be, are subordinate to the primary purpose of schooling.

With that definition in mind, a State Board spokesman said, the staff compiled final proposals in each of the mandate areas (state-required instruction) that it studied.

The definition is seen as including "the three R's (reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic)" and a few other fundamentals, but not nearly as wide a scope of duties as has accumulated over the years.

The staff members' purpose in describing "schooling" is to "more clearly delineate the state's priorities and responsibilities as well as to outline local district flexibility and responsibilities."

A public hearing was held yesterday evening in Springfield and another is set for 1 to 6 p.m. Feb. 23 in Chicago. It will take place in the Buckingham Room, first floor, Americana Congress Hotel, 505 N. Michigan Ave.

Organizations, school systems, parents and other citizens are providing testimony on the staff's proposals.

Dr. Donald G. Gill, Illinois superintendent of education, will make his final recommendations to the board's Planning and Policy Committee following the hearings.

After action by that committee, the State Board is expected to take final action on mandate recommendations in late March, setting the stage for spring consideration by the Illinois General Assembly.

The five Phase I studies—special education, driver and physical education, bilingual education and instructional programs—are part of a comprehensive State Board analysis of state laws, rules and regulations governing elementary and secondary education in Illinois.

After evaluating current special education mandates, the staff recommended:

A. Eliminating class-size requirements, based on the assumption that the decision can best be made at the local level. The local decision would have to be documented and left open for review.

B. Allowing more flexibility in personnel requirements, particularly not requiring a supervisor certification for every handicapped condition.

C. Simplifying the IEP (Individualized Education Plan) by improving the "time lines," and requiring the fewer number of participants in its development.

D. Developing criteria for determining whether related services are directly associated with instruction, and then requiring the school district to pay only for instruction-related services.

Bilingual education recommendations call for districts to provide appropriate educational experiences and services to all students with limited English proficiency.

No particular methodology would be prescribed for teaching bilingual students, the decision being left to local discretion.

Based on assessment of each individual student, local districts would be required to provide course content for teaching bilingual students, the decision being left to local discretion.

In the area of driver education, the final staff recommendations call for elimination of both the classroom and behind-the-wheel instruction. There had been some talk of retaining classroom training but eliminating dual-control autos due to their cost.

The recommendations stipulate educators' belief that taking the driver program should not be a condition of early state licensing.

Districts which voluntarily offer the driving program would receive appropriate state aid.

At the same time, the governor would be asked to form an inter-agency commission to investigate effective traffic safety measures and to recommend allocation of state funds to implement them.

For physical education, the staff proposed requiring PE in grades kindergarten through ten, and offering it only as an elective in grades 11 and 12.

The frequency of PE courses and the use of class time would be determined locally, but would need to be compatible with the optimum growth and development needs of individuals of the various age levels.

Physical education also is being addressed as one of the instructional mandates. The instructional mandate study examined the program requirements set out in Chapter 4 of State Board of Education Document 1.

The staff is recommending that, instead of the current mandates spelling out what subjects students must take and schools must offer, there need to be "outcome statements" incorporated into law.

These would state, in broad terms, what students should at least know and be able to do as a result of instruction in language arts, mathematics, sciences, social sciences, fine arts, and physical development and health.

B. Allowing more flexibility in personnel requirements, particularly not requiring a supervisor certification for every handicapped condition.

C. Simplifying the IEP (Individualized Education Plan) by improving the "time lines," and requiring the fewer number of participants in its development.

D. Developing criteria for determining whether related services are directly associated with instruction, and then requiring the school district to pay only for instruction-related services.

been endorsed by the Illinois Board of Education are provisions requiring:

1. A free, appropriate education for every handicapped child.

2. Education in the least restrictive environment.

3. An individualized program for each handicapped child.

4. State education agency supervision of all education programs for handicapped children.

5. A continuing search to find handicapped children not currently being served.

6. In-service training for all personnel working with handicapped youngsters.

STEAR TAPE DECK
An apartment burglary, reported last week by Jerry Leibold, 1010 Twenty-third St., netted the thieves a stereo receiver valued at $150 and a tape deck worth $300. Entry was gained by pushing in the window on a rear door. Closets and a dresser were ransacked.

And they would create a process for modifying the instructional program, as necessary, to achieve the objectives.

The staff also has recommended that information be developed which would identify, for local boards and committees, the characteristics of students with excellent schools.

This would allow local citizens to consider the characteristics of their own schools within the context of excellence. Dr. Gill and State Board Chairman Edward Cope land believe.

In addition to the two mandate hearings Feb. 9 and 23, the State Board has scheduled hearings for 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb. 25 in Springfield and Feb. 28 in Chicago on a proposed state plan concerning the education of handicapped children.

A 1984-86 Illinois state plan will relate to the 1975 Education for All Handicapped Children Act, Public Law 94-142.

Oral and written testimony on education of the handicapped may address: areas of concern, citing the annual program plan section and subsection; the problems under discussion; and comments or recommendations for changes.

The state plan will outline policies and procedures for implementing PL 94-142 during the 1984-86 fiscal years.

It also will deal with pre-school incentive grants under Part B of that law. Such funds are used for special education services to handicapped children three, four and five years old.

Lazerson named to job council

President Earl Lazerson of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been named by Governor James R. Thompson to the Illinois State Job Training Council.

The panel supervises the former Illinois Employment and Training Council in serving as the chief executive's adviser on employment and training-related matters.

Membership on the IJTCC is drawn from leaders in four categories: business and industry; state agencies—legislature; general local government; and the general public. Lazerson will act as one of the public members.

The new council was mandated by the Federal Job Training Partnership Act for the purposes of advising the governor on the setting up of service delivery areas. It also will assist him and his administrative arm, the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, in other aspects of the implementation of the new jobs program.

In a meeting Jan. 20, the council laid down appropriate criteria and procedures for applying them in effecting the designation of service department areas.

Recommendations have been forwarded to the governor for his consideration prior to the publication of a proposed map in early February.

Along with Lazerson, Richard Wagner, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, and Mayor Carl Officer of East St. Louis will offer their experience and expertise as members of the council.
